

Chris,
Congratulations!

For the last 18 years you have been on the road to graduation from high school. Now that you have made that accomplishment, the road now widens, gets longer and can take you to any destination you choose. We are all so proud of you and have confidence in the decisions you will make in the future. We love you so much!
Remember, if you ever need us, we'll be in your "Bull Pen".

Love, Mom and Dad

Chris,
Well, you are finally here. The big year has passed. I hope that your high school years were as enjoyable as mine were. I have watched you grow and mature into a wonderful person over the last few years. You and I have had our times together, some that you probably want to forget and a lot that I never will. You will never know how proud I am of you. You have accomplished so much-Keep it up! You are about to embark on a whole new world and there will be some troubles and bad times. I want you to know that during those hard times, when you feel all alone, that I will be right there beside you and if you ever need anything you can call me.

Your big brother,
MAX
