

Whitney,

On July 31, 1986, I was blessed beyond words to have had YOU! It's hard to believe the time has come for you to graduate. There will be an emptiness inside me, but I cherish the time we've had together. I've watched you grow up and become your own person and I know that life holds many special things for you.

There will be good days as well as bad, but remember that good things come to good people, and that without a doubt, you are one of the best! You grow smarter and more beautiful everyday and I am extremely proud to be your mother.

I always want you to be happy. Make everyday of your life worth while. Disappointments and heartache are a part of life, but remember... Whitney, when it comes to hopes and wishes and dreams, the very best are for you...from ME! I love you!

Mom

Whitney,

You are a wonderful sister. I will miss you. I love you.

Love Taylor

Whitney,

I wish you all the best in your future and career. I am so proud of you and your accomplishments. Remember there are many choices in life we all have to make. I am sure you will always make the right ones. I will always be there for you not only as a DAD but also as a friend who loves and cares for you more than you will ever know!

Love Jeff
