

How do we begin...It seems like only yesterday we heard those joyous words, "you have a beautiful, healthy baby girl!" At that moment and every moment since, you have blessed our lives in so many ways. You have given us many wonderful memories, from that silly little face you made when you were just a toddler, to that beautiful smile we always see on your face today. We are so proud of the wonderful young woman you have become. Words cannot begin to describe how very much we love you! You are kind, considerate, caring, thoughtful, and always loving. You are more than we could ever have hoped for in a daughter. What ever road life takes you down just remember to keep God first, continue to work hard, keep smiling that beautiful smile of yours, and always believe in yourself! You do these things and there will be nothing you cannot accomplish!!

All our love & prayers,
Momma & Daddy
