

Way To Go Adam!
You've been a great brother!

Love, Madison

It's been said that life's a dance that you learn more day by day... so we want to share some of the steps that we've picked up along the way...

Learn to laugh at yourself, and enjoy the laughter of your friends. Find humor in things that offend you to ensure that laughter never ends.

Do not believe in first impressions, for things aren't always as they seem. Sometimes the very smallest player is the best one on the team.

Always do what you feel is right; to your own self, you must be true. Remember you have to live with tomorrow whatever today, you choose to do.

Always be ready and willing to lend a hand where help is needed. Try to remember to treat other people as you, yourself, would like to be treated.

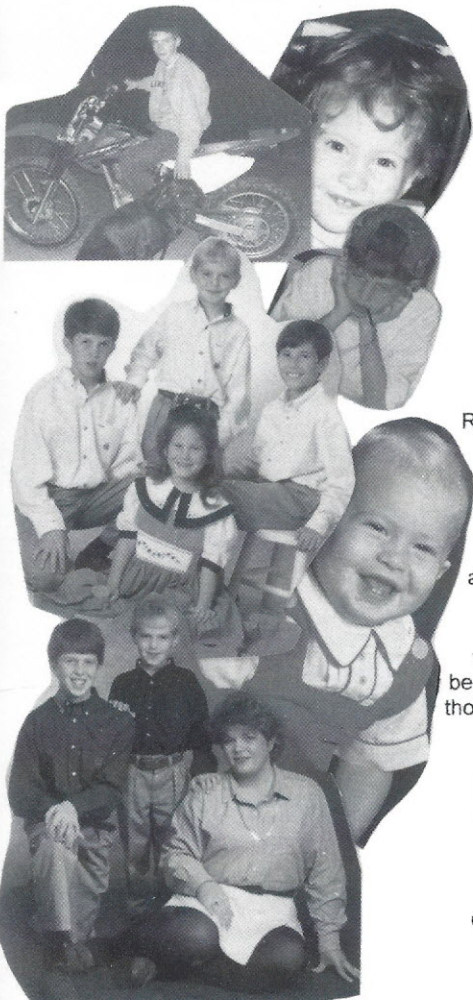

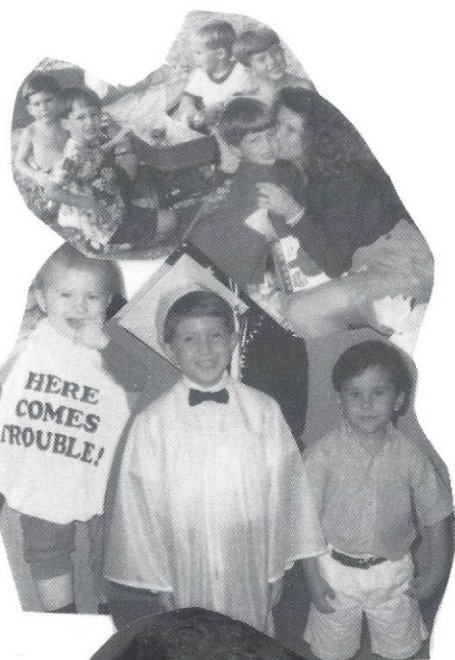

Do your best not to criticize others; we all have failings and faults that occur because no one has been born to perfection, though you'll meet those who think they were.

Cherish and respect your elders. Listen to stories from where they came and make them proud that you are one who carries their family name

And stay close to your family; don't let time or distance come between. Responsibilities create separations that very seldom are foreseen.

As you graduate and begin adulthood, I hope you'll someday benefit from the guidance these words may bring, but always know you have family in your life who love you more than anything!

Love, Mom, Aunt Robin, and Uncle Franklin

Congratulations!
