

Sports

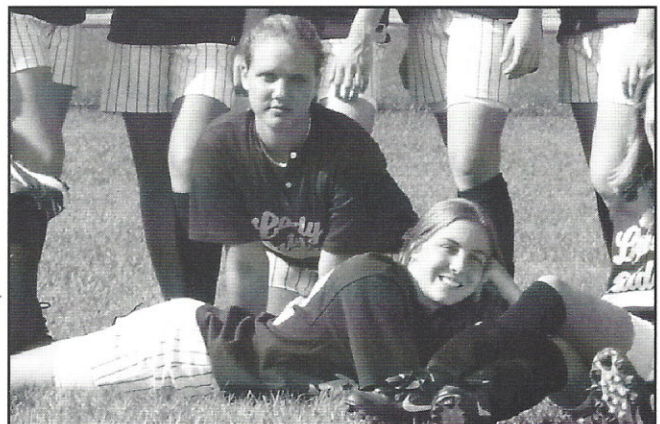

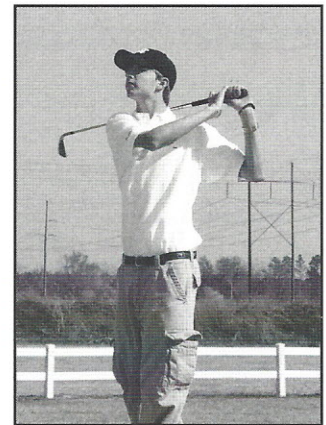

where athletes come from...

Some say that school life should revolve solely around academics. Academics are, indeed, very significant. However, the Guinness Book of World Records does not only boast about the smartest man in the world, but also boasts about the man who can run the fastest or jump the highest. This proves that academics and athletics balance each other out. Here, at Dorchester Academy, the student body believes that academics are important but the fun usually begins with "Sports."

Shawna Roach hustles to get the ball back into play after a wild bump.

Morgan Westbury, Michelle Metts, and Brittany Felkel cheer the Raider team on to a victory.

After teeing off, Chris Shuman watches to see if his hit was successful.

Daniel Patrick paces himself in order to win the race and beat the school record.

Jennifer Sweatman and Michelle Metts goof off before taking the Junior Varsity Softball team picture.