Meg,

It seems only yesterday the Lord blessed us with a special baby girl. It has been such a joy to watch you grow into a lovely young lady. You have such a kind and caring heart and that is what makes you so special. We are so proud of your accomplishments and always remember to put God first in your life. May all your dreams come true.

We love you,
Mom & Dad

"Trust in the Lord with all your heart; do not depend on your own understanding. Seek his will in all you do & he shall direct your paths."
Proverbs 3:5-6

Meg,

I can't believe you're already graduating from high school. You're the best sister anyone could ask for. I wish you the best of luck in the future. Remember to always be your own person and know that I'm always here for you.

GO TIGERS!!

I love you,
Morgan
