Your Grammie

To My Grandaughter Kass

Well the time has finally gotten here and I know it has been a long grind. I am very proud of you as I thought that for awhile you might Quit. Now that I have written all that I must pass on to you what my Father gave to me when I graduated from High School. (He gave me the whole world to make a living in.) I pass this own to you but the world is much smaller now than when I graduated in 1944. I love you very much and I hope that you will continue your education.

Love You,
Your Grandfather (Speck) (Be-Bop)

KASSI

Kassi,

Eighteen years to prepare myself for this Graduation and letting go!!! Not an easy thing to do. I have done some baby steps along the way. Leaving you home alone at 12, driving the car by yourself at fifteen, and letting you do things to your hair (sometimes brought tears to my eyes when no one was looking) but letting go never the less. This one is going to be the hardest yet...Your life and your hair is now your own... Enjoy all of it...Be wise and make the smartest decisions possible...Always remember that I am here for you if you need me...Most important I love you and I am so glad you are a part of my life...Congratulations and I am proud of you...The future is yours...

Love Ya Always
And Forever
Mom

P.S. I know others feel the same way...

How the years fly by so fast. the short time I've known you, I've come to love you as much as my own. You are everything a parent could hope their child could become. Congratulations on passing one of life's toughest test. Though there are many more to come, I am sure you will choose all your future endeavors wisely. I love you like the daughter I never had.
