

Christopher Marshall Shuman
 Trying to sum up how proud you've made us in the past 18 years is the hardest thing I've ever tried to do. Seems like only yesterday that I dropped you off at Ms. Nancy's for your first day of school and here you are graduating. The times I held your hand and walked you to class are times I'll treasure forever. Sometimes I don't know what we would have done without each other. As you shut this chapter of your life and open the next, always remember Ernie & I are here for you no matter what and we love you very much! It has been a joy watching you grow into the wonderful young man you've become.

With Much Love, Mom & Ernie
 PS: I am so glad God chose me to be your Mom!!
