

Jansen,

Hope and I have always believed in you and will always support you. It is hard to believe that you are all grown up. It seems like yesterday we were teaching you to ride a bike or watching you master your latest video game.

You have always been a wonderful son. You filled a void in Hope's heart the first day she met you. Raising you has been extraordinary and added so much to our lives. We are so glad that you have developed a love for music and we hope that it will always bring you joy.

Good luck in your future and remember that home is where the heart is and you can come back home.

We love you.
Daddy and Hope
