

McKinley

I have been so proud of you during the years and especially now. You have suffered one of the greatest losses of your life. Academically, athletically, morally, and spiritually, you have grown in so many ways. Good friends will always be around, but great friends will be there for you here and spiritually. Being your father and seeing you helping and being a part of a team, especially being the quarterback has made me so proud. There are many parts that make up a team -whether it be a guard, a lineman, a running back, or a receiver, each is just as important as a QB -because all parts make a team and that is just like the game of life -as I have watched you learn.

In the future, I wish the best for you and I will be there for you. Whether success or failure, you will learn from both.

I Love You,
Dad

P.S. Take care of your new truck because when YOU are ready to buy your next one they are going to be really expensive.

Mac,

I am so proud of you. I want to wish you luck for the future. I hope you have as much fun in college as I did. Go Cocks! Always remember that your future is what you choose to make of it.

I can't believe you are about to graduate. That may not be a bad thing... The older we get, the more we get along so I guess it is all uphill from now on.

I love you!
Callie
