

This was the month, the year, of the Incredible Snowfall! Who could recognize our lowcountry under a nine-inch blanket of snow? School was disrupted for days, we remained isolated where we were until the thaw began. Many of us had opened our homes to stranded travelers when thousands of tourists found themselves without shelter and unable to move on.

