

The season of 1973 was started in August with a new coaching staff and a new system of play for the Warhawks. Some early season setbacks and the lack of experienced players created more problems for the team than was necessary, and this was a big factor in a 4-6 season.