

For One Day They're Enemies

The week before the annual Powderpuff game at John C. Calhoun could easily be termed "war week". As practices began everyone looked at his friends on the other team as enemies. When the buzzer rang, out ran 22 girls who were ready to win. During half-time, three candidates for the powderpuff queen were waiting to see who would be crowned. The candidates were Paul Camburn, Dowl Knight, and Scott Crosby. The lucky winner was Pauletta Scottetta Camburn. After the crowning of the queen, the players were ready to battle it out for another 45 minutes. As the game ended, with the score of 8-0, the Seniors became the first team at J.C.C.A. to win 4 Powderpuff games in a row. The memory of the four victories has not been forgotten by a single Senior player. After the night of November 20th, enemies became friends again until next year when they meet again.
