

The Final Countdown

Those exciting pep rallies in the gym, the lockers that would refuse to open, the hard working practices that seemed to last forever — These are a few things that run through our minds as the final days of school are counted down. But the twelve years of life spent on learning and growing also hold some of our most precious memories that will keep dear to us forever.

Looks like Mrs. Griffin needs a break!

The Warhawks anxiously wait for the game to start.
