

This year was a big step for the sixth grade. Changing classes was a routine they had to get acquainted with, but they enjoyed it. The students were busy with homework, of course. These sixth graders still found time to play sports or talk on the phone with special friends. The sixth graders may not have many people, but they are all very close and look forward to spending their future years together.

These students better pay attention so that they won't miss any of Mrs. Speaks' vocabulary.

Why isn't Tracy Tittle in class?
Well, she found time to use the phone.

Robyn Keller

... because you get to have P.E.

Why do you like being in the sixth grade?

Honour Hiers prepares herself for a serve in a volleyball game.