

What Makes A Great Year . . .

People, Sports, Academics, Classes, Activities

A Great Year? Exactly what is a great year? It's months filled with wonderful, exciting, memorable events. A school year nine months of learning and fun along with hard work and, sometimes disappointment.

This great year of 1988-89 has brought us close friendships and sometimes even closer relationships with a special "member of the opposite sex." We have enjoyed many John C. events together: the Halloween Carnival, Homecoming, athletic tournaments, Junior-Senior Prom — all the special times we have shared with our classmates.

Sport events put our teams to the test. They had to spend their afternoons out on the athletic fields practicing their plays in football, baseball or softball. Or they were working on their forehand on the tennis courts, or practicing free throws in the gym. Some were even walking the course at the Country Club, practicing their golf swings. And at the same time, they had to find time to study.

These seventh and eighth graders socialize while they anxiously await for the bell to ring.

What is this, Halloween in the spring? No, its storybook week and these first graders dress up as their favorite characters.
