What Makes A Great Year . . .

People, Sports, Academics, Classes, Activities

A Great Year? Exactly what is a great year? It's months filled with wonderful, exciting, memorable events. A school year nine months of learning and fun along with hard work and, sometimes disappointment.

This great year of 1988-89 has brought us close friendships and sometimes even closer relationships with a special "member of the opposite sex." We have enjoyed many John C. events together: the Halloween Carnival, Homecoming, athletic tournaments, Junior-Senior Prom — all the special times we have shared with our classmates.

Sport events put our teams to the test. They had to spend their afternoons out on the athletic fields practicing their plays in football, baseball or softball. Or they were working on their forehand on the tennis courts, or practicing free throws in the gym. Some were even walking the course at the Country Club, practicing their golf swings. And at the same time, they had to find time to study.

These seventh and eighth graders socialize while they anxiously await for the bell to ring.

What is this, Halloween in the spring? No, its storybook week and these first graders dress up as their favorite characters.

Teachers call class time a time for structured learning, but we students know it's more than that. We had to learn also to grow up, to make the decision to learn, to accept the opportunities the teachers put before us. We had to find out just who we are, and, more than that, who we are to become.

Most importantly, we learned that learning is not a part-time job — that all those times we shared with our friends, our teachers, the staff, were times of education in all sorts of ways. While we were learning how to conjugate verbs and to find the lowest common denominator, we were learning how to live. In the pages that follow the reader can clearly see that the (1988-89 school year) was A Great Year.

A Great Year

Mrs. Linder takes time out to talk to Mrs. Walker about her son's English grades.

Nicole Ray, a yearbook photographer, works diligently after school on the next deadline.

GREAT DAY

morning, noon, and night

Drew Brightwell diligently works on his math homework for the next day.

Heather Gahagan

2:20

Typical day at John C. is not much different from other schools. Everyone studies, jokes, and participates in activities. John C., however, has an advantage in that everyone is close and friendly.”

Kevin Beach

The alarm clock rang continuously, the feet hit the floor, and the body was up. This was going to be the beginning of “A GREAT DAY”. The student rose early or late as the case may have been for another day at John C. Calhoun.

Homeroom was a time for socializing and lunch orders to be placed. First period arrived and the day had really begun. After the changing of classes most students were finally awake. Only a few more classes were left before lunch. A little Geometry here and some English there took up the next few classes. The chance to pass that special note to that special person without being caught in Mrs. Linder’s class was a challenge and so was the Literature test. The bell rang and it was off to lunch.

After lunch, the day had almost ended and the anxious students awaited the final bell. Finally it was time to go, and the mad dash to the lockers and cars was made.

Wayne Crosby, a senior, slowly but surely gets out of his car for another day of learning.

It seems as if our photographer has taken Andy Blevins by surprise during his lunch break.

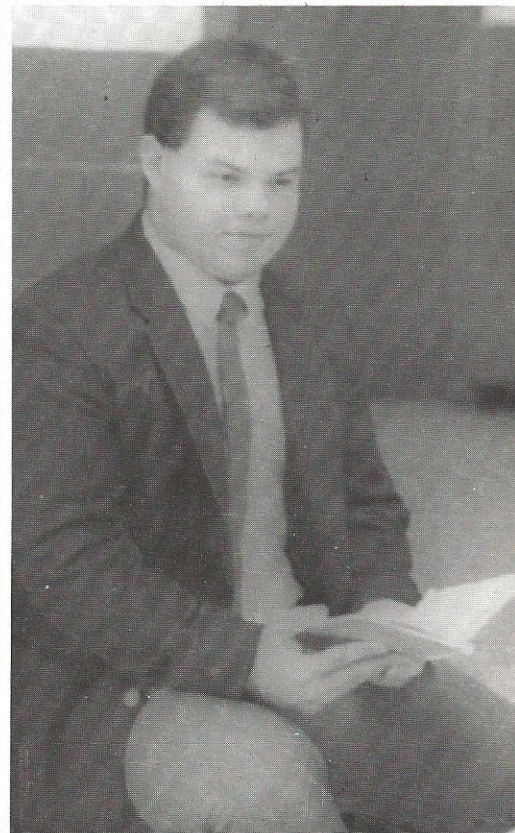

The empty parking lot is a sign that school has not begun but at 8:15 this parking lot will be filled with students and cars.

As another day ends at John C., Rhonda Smith and Emily Warren go to their cars.

J.J. Evans, a National Honor Society member, spends one day out of the week helping in the library.

FAMILY

momma, daddy, bubba, and sister

“Being a student of my mother is quite difficult at times. Whenever I forget my homework, especially in her class, it’s bad. If I bomb a test it’s even worse.”

Allen Goehring

CARE

eaching my own children has been fun as well as interesting. I’ve had the chance to see another side of their personalities that I would have missed otherwise. All three have commented that it hasn’t been so bad.”

Betty Goehring

John C. Calhoun could be best described as “one big happy family” in more ways than one. Not only was the relationship between the students and the teachers close and caring academically, but many teachers and students were actually related. Mothers and fathers taught sons and daughters, grandmothers taught grandchildren, and aunts and uncles abounded. These students felt uncomfortable at times. The pressure to perform well came from both their home life and school life as well. If their grades were not up to par they would hear about them both at home and school. If a good grade had been rewarded friends would badger them constantly. As far as the teachers were concerned, they supported their kinsmen. Through the good and bad grades, the headaches and rewards, that parental care could always be found. Not only with the sons and daughters but with each individual as a whole.

Mr. Bennett has been a bad boy. Eric, his son, delivers his punishment.

Mrs. Nancy Beach and her son, Kevin, take a few moments out of their busy day to visit with each other.

Is this a family reunion? No, it's the Warren and Speaks clan. Both families are a part of our family.

Can this be right? Mrs. Linder's grandson, Will Haynes, is almost as tall as she is.

Mr. and Mrs. George Brittle are a new addition to John C.'s happy family.

TIME OUT

work, play, relaxation

Renne Dennis, a senior, spends her extra time away from school working at the hospital.

Colette Bailey

R & R

My after school time is very important to me. I spend my time talking with friends on the telephone, practicing sports, talking with friends “up town”, and working at an after school job.

Kevin Litchfield

The last bell of the day rings signalling Time Out, the most important part of the day for most students. Whether it was playing sports or the piano, students could always express themselves. Some students spent their time in front of the television hoping for Reva and Josh to unite once again. Still others were palling around with friends or taking a short nap. Students also improved their ball changes and turns by taking dance lessons.

The lower school students were involved in the exciting activities of scouting. Learning social skills and providing community services were only a few. While scouting was taking place in the lower grades, the high school students were busy with after school jobs. Much time was also consumed talking on the phone with a special friend. Homework was another item on the agenda of the day. This item always had to be done and that was a fact.

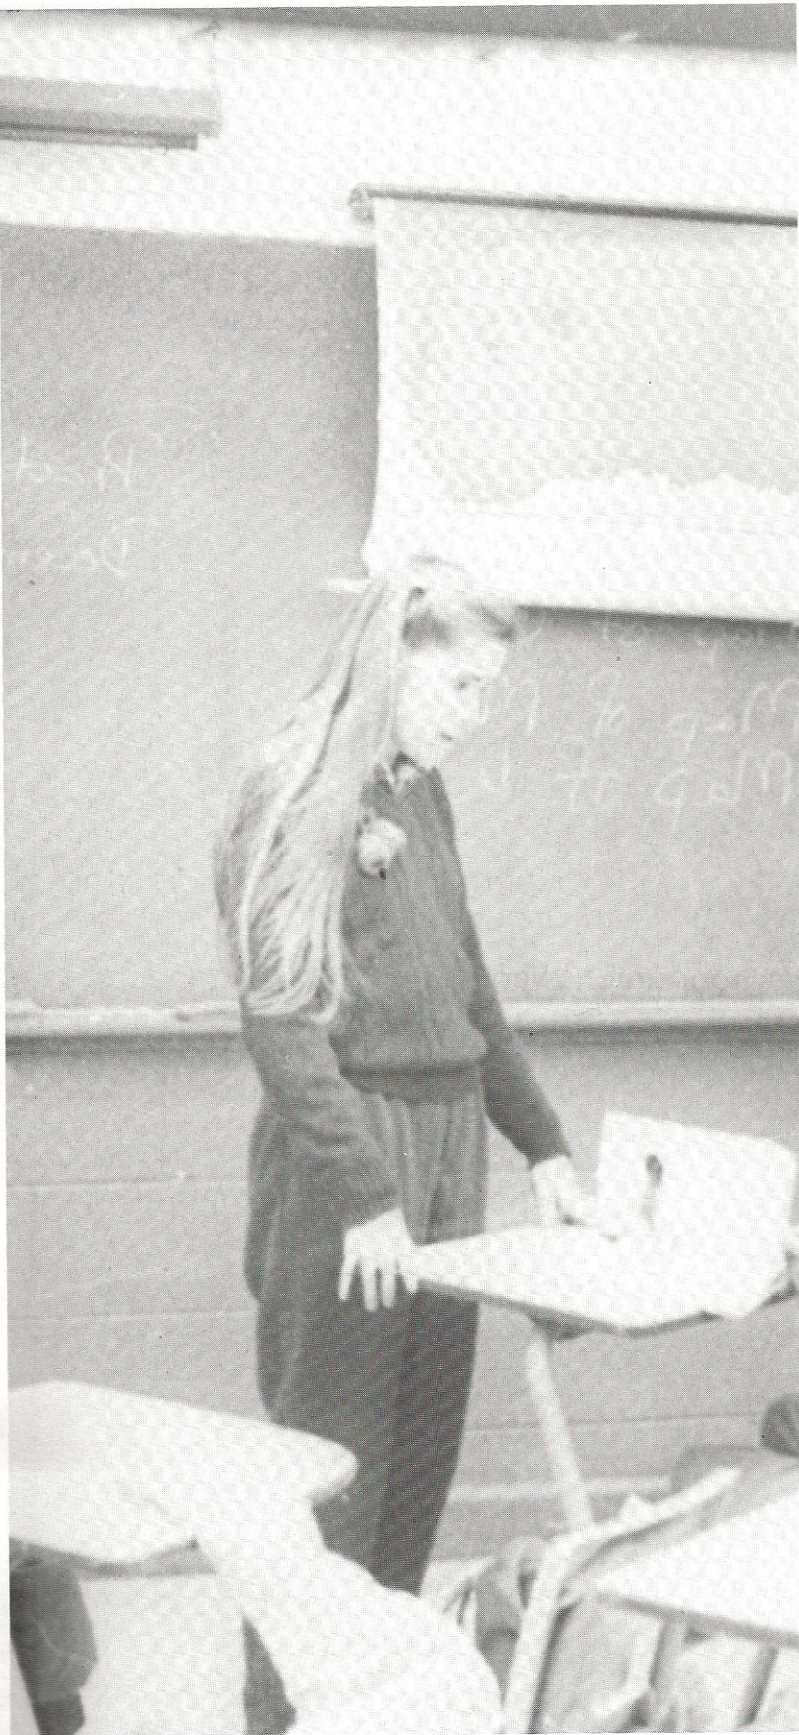

When Nicole Ray isn't busy with her studies she likes to “brush up” on her piano skills.

The yearbook photographers were able to take Ashley Biggers by surprise at a Varsity football game. Ashley is always there to support the team.

The school Cub Scout group met regularly each month. This particular meeting was held for the parents and plans were discussed about the upcoming trip.

Mrs. Corrine Brittle, a teacher at the school, also runs the after school program.

THE LOOK

hip, rad, cool, hot, out of sight

“The styles of the '80's let each person be themselves. The colors are bright and spectacular. They are all around fascinating.”

Sonya Easterlin

STYLE

The fads and fashions of today let each person be unique. Each person should dress like they want and like they mean it.”

Drew Brightwell

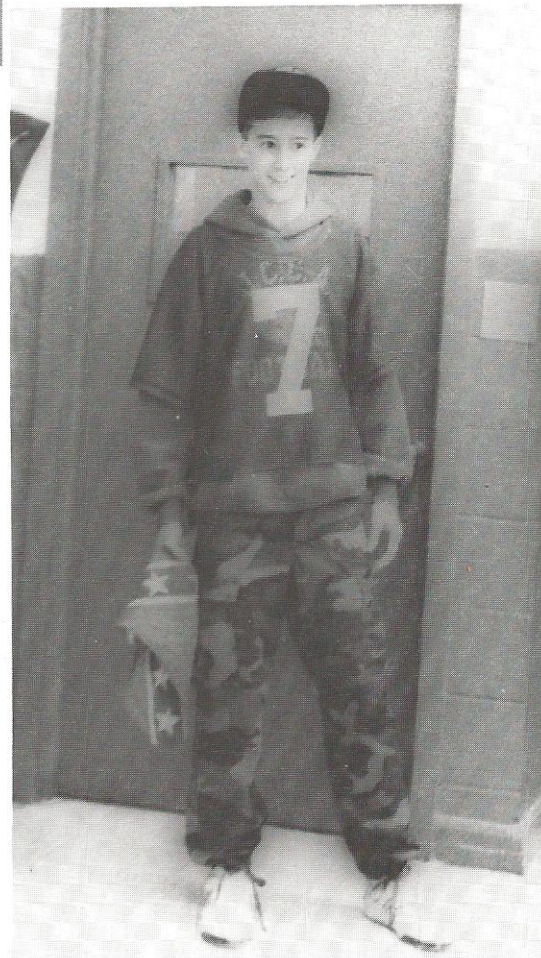

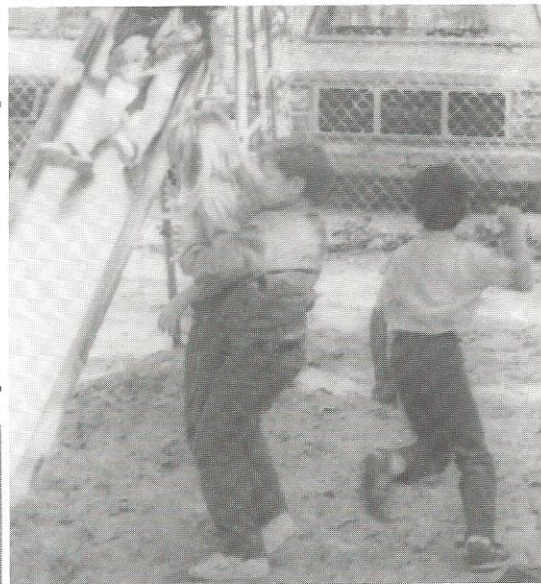

Long, short, or medium hair? What was the style for 1989? Blue jeans, dress pants, or skirts? The styles of today were changing constantly throughout the year. Each person did their own thing rather than following a trend. The sometimes unusual dress became exciting and the contemporary look was in for some.

All through the halls shorts, pants, and skirts could be seen. The ever popular “Guess” jeans and the denim jacket were there along with plaid skirts and tops. Every once in awhile a smile with something extra was seen. The flash of braces.

Hightops and skateboard attire were usually found in the lower and middle schools. While in the high school each person was doing their “own thing”.

You're never out of style when you're in a pair of jeans. They never die out.

PECIAL

All of John C. Calhoun's students this year were special from kindergarten to seniors, but certain kids stood out. Most people would assume they stood out because they excelled in academics or athletics but there was much more to them. They were special because they were interested in helping others. Students may help within John C., such as teaching music or being library aids, or they may help outside the school such as being candy stripers. Many students were involved in Boy Scouts or 4-H clubs which get them involved in bettering their community.

Kevin Dantzler received a 4-H award for raising catfish himself.

Tanya DeWitt, Michael Ritter, and Sarah Nickel really enjoy teaching music to the lower school.

The J.C.C.A. Student Council was an organization made up of hard working students who perform duties for John C. and the Walterboro community. This outstanding group of fourteen students was chosen by their peers in class elections. The officers were as follows: Kevin Beach, president; Allen Goehring, vice-president; Allison Goehring, sec. — treasurer; and Gary Brightwell faculty advisor.

As usual, the student council had been responsible for Homecoming preparations, Thanksgiving baskets for the needy, and a food drive for the S.P.C.A. Along with these activities, they were sponsoring a drug and alcohol education program and had met with the student council of Walterboro High school to exchange ideas and discuss future joint projects.

Emily Warren, Christy Steele, Amy Gentry, and Kevin Beach helped host the 1988 Academic Bowl hosted by John C. in the spring.

The 1988-89 National Honor Society had only given the privilege of its membership to five seniors this year. These seniors showed overwhelming qualities in scholarship, leadership, service, and character. Kevin Beach, president, J.J. Evans, sec.-treasurer; Amy Gentry, Christy Steele, and Emily Warren were the honored members of this club.

Every year between February and spring juniors that were active and have maintained a B average were inducted into the National Honor Society in a candlelight ceremony.

The chief duty of the members was to provide student assistance whenever it was needed. Traditionally, they helped in the library and were hosts and hostesses for the Academic Bowl which John C. Hosts.

Tiger Martin triumphantly shows his award.

The Academic Bowl has been sponsored by J.C.C.A. for five years. It involved representatives from the high school grades. The contestants from J.C.C.A. were Tiger Martin, Daryl Smoak, Melodie Pearce, Reeves McLeod, and Dori Futch.

Every grade has its own level of questions in English, Math, Science, Social Studies, and Current Events. Fourteen schools competed and out of the fourteen students in each grade five made it from the preliminaries to the finals. Tiger Martin won the twelfth grade competition.

Tiger Martin smiles as he is congratulated by his friends and family.

PRODUCERS

This summer all of the TALON staff was kept extremely busy. Many ads had to be sold and each member was expected to sell his share. The editors had to attend a three day camp held at the John C. The TALON sponsor, Mrs. Hawes, and Jostens representatives Mr. Young, taught the new editors about layouts and interviews while old editors sharpened their skills.

Creating the TALON every year takes a lot of hard work and effort. Editors are constantly giving assignments to members which have to handle interviews on various subjects. There are always many deadlines to be met and prepared for. The editor-in-chief and Mrs. Hawes must carefully check all layouts and copy before printing.

This year's TALON staff consists of 25 members. The editor-in-chief is Amy Gentry and the editors are Charla Valentine, Emily Warren, Keri Holmes, Cristy Steele, Allison Nettles, Lesi Rodgers, and Beth Gaskin. Kim Strickland, Heather Gahagan, and Melodie Pearce are the editors for the new Patron ad section.

The WARHAWK is the school newspaper which is put out three times a year, before Christmas in the spring, and a special Valentine issue. It informs the students of the different activities that have been going on throughout the year. The paper also has an amusing special features section that features student interests out of school, special memories for seniors and their friends in the "Senior Santa Letters" and "Last Will and Testaments". Valentines send each other special messages in the Valentines issue.

Mrs. Goehring is the sponsor of the WARHAWK staff members. The senior editors chosen sent by Mrs. Goehring are Allison Nettles, Lesi Rodgers, Christy Steele, and Renee Dennis. The Spanish Club brought fun to learning for many students. They really enjoyed learning about Spanish culture and customs, especially since they celebrated several holidays with parties. The club cooked their own Spanish appetizers during class and had a great time devouring their creations. This Christmas they sang carols in Spanish throughout the upper, middle, and lower schools.

This year's club officers were as follows: Allison Goehring, President; Shane Walker, Vice-President; and Charla Valentine, Sec-treasurer. The sponsor was Mrs. Sharon Folk.

Many of the club members will be going to Spain this summer. They will be chaperoned by Mrs. Folk. She is an excellent chaperone because she is well acquainted with Spain's interesting hot spots.

The week of the Homecoming game, John C. vs. Country Day, is called "Spirit Week." It's a time when everyone showed how much spirit he had.

Every day had a theme Monday's was "Twins Day". Students got together and dressed alike. "Mourn the Rebels" and "Hush Botton" days were on Tuesday so everyone wore black and girls refused to talk to the boys. Tim Godwin collected the most "hush buttons" and was named "Mr. Irrestible". On "Favorite Football player or Cheerleader Day" everyone wore jerseys and cheerleading uniforms. Thursday was "Red Neck Day" in "honor" of the Country Day Rebels.

As always Friday was "Original Blue and White Day". All students wore all their blue and white and classes performed skits at the pep rally. There was even a "Mock Homecoming Queen" pageant and Matt Free won. Even teachers got involved in order to give the War Hawks some winning spirit.

Halloween brought out the true personalities of the students of John C. Seniors enjoyed the tradition of dressing up in costumes ranging from bag ladies to babies, mice to clowns, and Pocohontas to ghouls. Some of the kids in the lower school adorned "California Raisin" costumes and had Halloween parties.

As usual, John C. had a fantastic Halloween Carnival with bingo, "go fish", apple bobbing, and tic tac toe. The eighth grade class had a face painting booth and the seniors sponsored a sponge toss. The main attraction, though, was the junior's Haunted House. It had many of your nightmares come true, including scenes with "Jason", "Freddy Kruger", and Vampires.

Refreshments were served at the drop-in held at Allison Nettles' house as well as at the dance. Many ravenous dancers devoured the wonderful chicken fingers, sweet & sour meatballs, desserts, and punch.

As the dance draws to an end, the band plays a final song and everyone crowds together to share a last dance and memory.

A TIME OF TEARS

Graduation was the end and beginning for the Class of '88. Graduation would end an important chapter in their life and open the door to many new experiences. These students soon began to realize that they would no longer be the head of the school but young men and women heading out in the big world.

As the tearful farewell was said by Amy Goehring, Valedictorian and Cindy Smith, Salutatorian, varied thoughts raced through their minds. Their hopes, dreams and their relief could be seen on their faces. They all knew each part of the unit would go his separate way — never to forget times shared with the unit — The Class of '89.

Amy Goehring, Valedictorian, proudly gives her farewell speech to the seniors and faculty at J.C.C.A.

Jamboree Gives Good Start

Jamboree Gives Confidence To All

Juniors, Kevin Litchfield and Josh Siegel, hold the opponents back so they won't gain any extra yardage.

On August nineteenth JCC hosted a football Jamboree. Six teams and their cheerleaders came to participate. Each team played a twenty-five minute quarter. John C. played and defeated Patrick Henry 14-0. The first touchdown was made by a pass from Cam Werntz to Asher Howell. Wayne Crosby got the two point conversion. Crosby also ran the ball in for the second touchdown. Our defense held Patrick Henry scoreless.

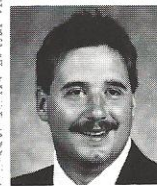

There was also a cheerleading competition. The Varsity cheerleaders did a dance to "Brass Monkey". They won third place in the competition, while Thomas Heyward won second, and Patrick Henry won first place.

The Jamboree gave the Hawks a good start. It gave both the players and cheerleaders confidence to begin the season.

MY FAULT

*Hawks Work Hard But Have
An Unhappy Ending.*

The Varsity Football team had a frustrating season. The Hawk's overall record of 2-7 did not reflect their actual performance throughout the season.

The Hawks along with head coach, Doc Lewis, and all of the assistant coaches, began practicing in early August. A week long football camp was held at John C. to help improve the Hawks performance for the upcoming season. The Hawks got off to a good pre-season start. They played impressively in scrimages against Holly Hill and Country Day. The Hawks also defeated Patrick Henry 14-0 in the Jamboree.

The Varsity Football team started the 1988 season with a loss in double overtime, 26-19, to Clarendon Hall, who at the time was ranked No. 1 among SCISA independent teams. In their second outing, the Hawks barely defeated Roy Hudgens 7-6 to gain their first win.

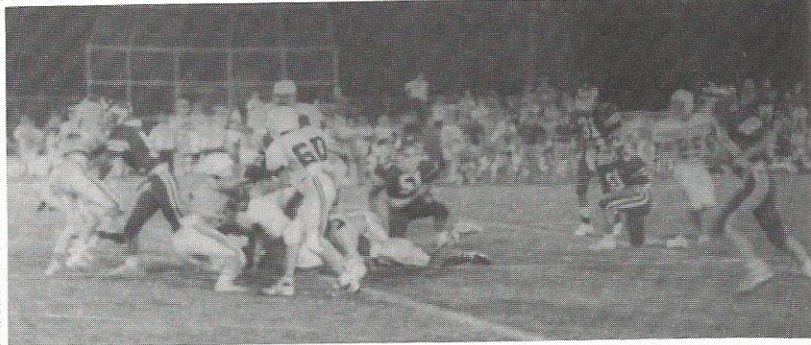

After the second game of the season, the Hawks fell into a slump. It was not really anyone's fault. Injuries and illnesses were constantly hampering the Hawks. Key players were injured at various times throughout the season. Due to these injuries, many young and unexperienced players were often in the game.

The Hawks had a fairly strong defense, but they were just not able to produce offensively. It was a strange situation, because basically the same players who played on the offense also played on the defense.

Despite the losses, the Hawks never gave up. They gave their all throughout the season, but they just could not put it together. The Hawks always held their heads high. Rain or shine, they were on the field practicing everyday. A team with that sort of attitude deserves to be respected.

The War Hawk Defense breaks through the opponents offensive line to stop the ball carrier and prevent them from getting a first down.

Senior, Wayne Crosby, grabs hold of the opponent and uses his strength to force him to the ground as Todd Fennell, also a senior comes to help him.

Quarterback and defensive player, Cam Wertz, a Junior, grabs hold of the opponent as Senior, Todd Fennell comes to force him down.

Senior, Todd Fennell, was a very versatile player. Here he carries the ball and pulls away from the Dorchester opponent in an attempt to get the first down.

SOME SPIRIT

The Cheerleaders

Work Hard To

Increase Spirit

Varsity Cheerleaders, Keri Holmes, Heather Gahagan, Michelle Jones, and Amy Gentry get set to begin their sideline routine to "Brass Monkey."

What's this? Captain, Emily Warren, watches tentatively as Senior, Lesi Rodgers, demonstrates her idea of an effective cheerleading move.

The Varsity Cheerleaders began the 1988-1989 season on quite a pleasant note. During the last week in June, the squad, along with advisor, Beth Warren, left J.C.C.A. to attend cheerleading camp at Columbia College. The week was a long, hot, and hectic one. Little did the cheerleaders know that all of the sweating and practicing would pay off. The squad brought home a trophy for outstanding performance.

Soon after arrival home from camp, the cheerleaders began practicing for the competition that was soon to be held during football Jamboree. At the Jamboree, the squad won third place for their superior performance to "Brass Monkey."

The Varsity Cheerleaders worked hard throughout the year. They were constantly doing something to help encourage school spirit. Cheerleaders have to be willing to give up time that they could be using to do something else. They had spent many long hours practicing, preparing for pep rallies, selling spirit ribbons, painting spirit posters, staying after school to decorate their secret football players' lockers, and most importantly, the cheerleaders did their best to cheer the Hawks to victory.

The Varsity Cheerleaders had an all around great squad. They cheered hard throughout football and basketball season. Win or lose and rain or shine, the cheerleaders were always there to give the Hawks support and to help encourage an increase in school spirit.

Varsity Cheerleading is not all fun. It's a lot of hard work. The squad gave up many long hours during the summer and after school working hard to perfect their moves for their dance and for every individual cheer.

The Varsity Cheerleaders cheered hard throughout the athletic seasons. They were always enthusiastic and supported the Hawks no matter what the circumstances were.

The Varsity Cheerleaders know that their hard work at practice had paid off when they perform a cheer in unison with perfection.

FOUR TIMES UNLUCKY

*J.V.'s Play
Hard And Gain
Experience*

The Junior Varsity Football team had a good season. Their hard work at practice everyday had paid off when the team finished with an overall record of 2-4.

The J.V. Boys, who were coached by George Brittle and assisted by Jim Harmon, consisted of boys in grades six through ten. Having had many ninth and tenth graders, the team had a lot of experience. Their experience had been evident by the way they performed on the field.

The disappointing loss of the season was to Holly Hill.

The team was really looking for a win because Coach Brittle had come to John C. from Holly Hill. The Hawks had played with enthusiasm throughout the game, but Holly Hill prevailed 14-13.

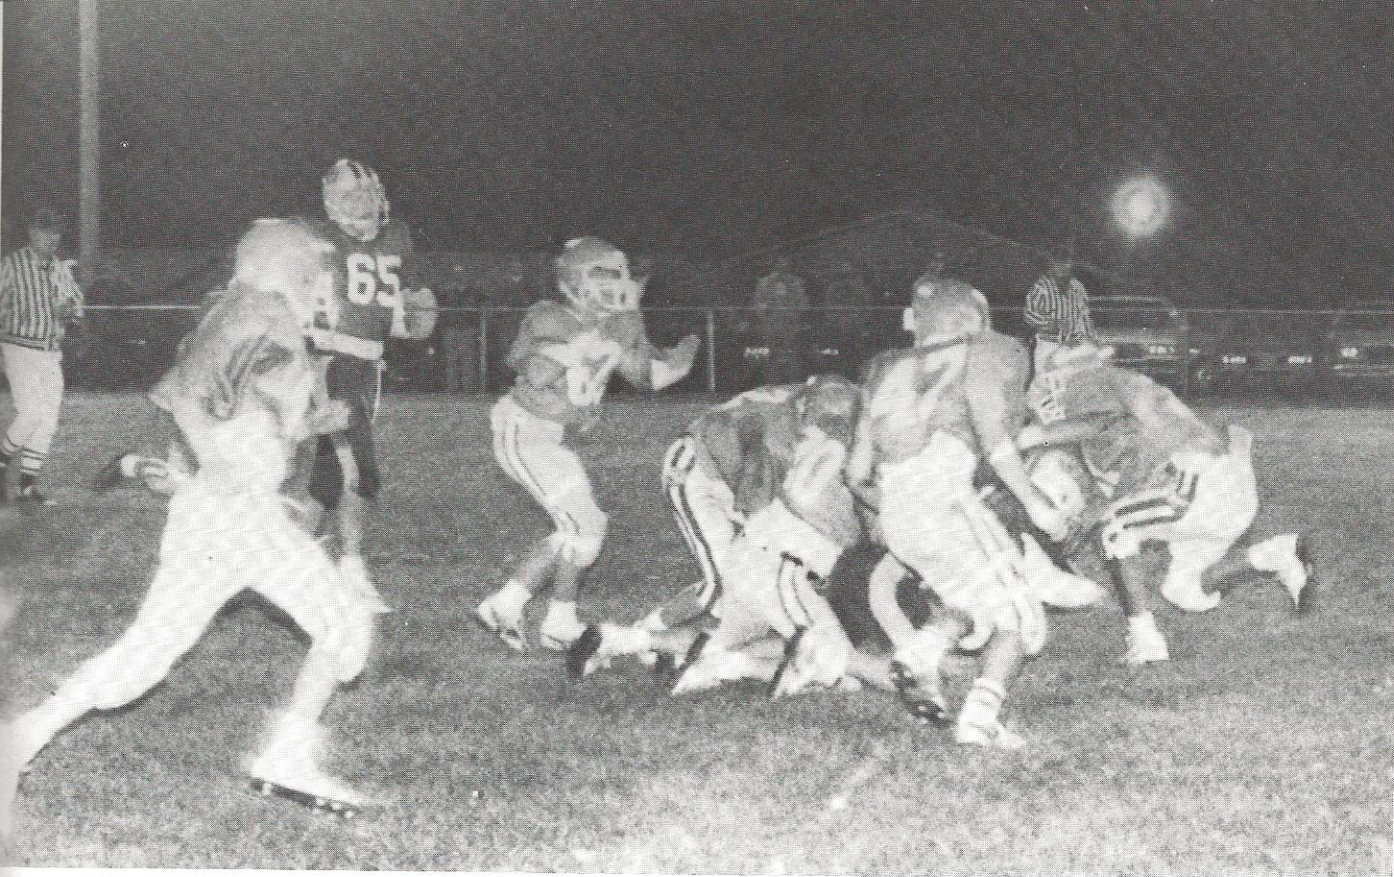

Over the course of the season, the Junior Varsity boys had proved that they knew how to play competitive football. Many of the older players will take what they have learned up to the Varsity level next year, and the younger players will have the chance to gain the experience that they will need for Varsity.

Freshman, Buck Howell, grabs the opponent's foot to make him fall to the ground just short of the first down while Sophomore, Drew Brightwell (66), and Freshman, Griffin Warren (44), follow close behind to be of help if needed.

The Hawk's defensive unit all collapse over the opponent to prevent them from gaining the yard necessary for a first down.

ENDURES

Enthusiasm

Effort.

The Junior Varsity cheerleaders had the spirit, confidence, and determination that is necessary to be a great squad. Practicing long hours, staying after school to paint spirit posters, selling ribbons, and selling programs at Varsity football games showed the girls' dedication to being successful cheerleaders.

There were only two members on the squad who had never cheered before. With the help and encouragement of sponsor, Mrs. Sandy Tyler, and the remaining girls, the two newcomers quickly became "one of the group."

The Junior Varsity cheer-

leader's job did not end with cheering their team to victory. The squad felt it was their duty to be one another's friend. Being a successful squad came naturally to the girls because they had been together for many years. They carried their binding friendships with them throughout the year. It was not the least bit unusual to see them helping one another with personal problems or for them to celebrate a friend's birthday after practice. Having so much enthusiasm and being as close as these girls were, it is no surprise that they had such a great squad.

Learning to be successful cheerleaders is a lot of hard work. The Junior Varsity Cheerleaders spent many long hours after school practicing to perfect their cheers and shoulder stands. Their sponsor, Mrs. Sandy Tyler, was always there to help them.

The Junior Varsity Cheerleaders were not just a cheering squad. They were also friends. They could always be found smiling and laughing with one another.

WHAT YOU SEE IS WHAT YOU GET

The girls 1988-89 tennis team was the youngest one that John C. has ever had. The oldest member of the team was Alison Goehring who is only a Sophomore. The remaining team members were Freshmen, Lee McConnell and Kristie Smith, Eighth graders, Marie Deloach, Felicia Fagnoli, Cope Johnston, and Dargon Rowe, and a Sixth grader, Kimberly Smith.

The girls, despite their young age, used their talent, desire, and the help of their coach, Diane Fishburn, to have a successful season. The team, finishing with an overall record of 4-2, won the conference title again this year to qualify for the state play-offs. The girls performed well, but lost in region play to Orangeburg Prep.

AN IMPORTANT PART

*There is more
to a team than

Many people do not realize what goes on "behind the scenes" during a football, basketball, or baseball game. Trainers, managers, and bookkeepers stay hard at work filling water bottles, taping ankles, and marking fouls.

These people do not often get the recognition that they deserve, but they are definitely an essential part of a team, and it could not function without them.

Archie Murdaugh, a Freshman, was a manager for the Varsity Football team. He spent many long hours in the hot summer sun with the team filling water bottles and doing other various jobs.

Beth Gaskin, a Junior, enjoys keeping the books for the J.V. and Varsity Girls' Basketball teams. She has to remain alert to the score, fouls, and who is in the game.

Kevin Beach, a Senior, was the head manager of the Varsity Football team. Kevin has been the manager for three years.

A NEW TEAM IS BORN

Varsity Boys have a good season after "rebuilding".

The Varsity Boys basketball team, who was coached by Danny Parnell, worked very hard throughout the 1988-1989 season and managed to finish with a 9-12 season. The team had a lot of work on their hands from the very beginning. All of the starters plus some other very good players from last year had graduated. The Varsity Boys had to completely rebuild and to find a group that could perform well together.

The Hawks started the season with approximately fifteen players and ended the season with only ten players. At the end of the season, there were four Seniors, five Juniors, and one Sophomore. They lost many players for various reasons. Injuries were also constantly hampering the Hawks. Starter, Eric Bennett, had an ankle injury that kept him out for the majority of the season.

The Varsity Boys rode on a roller coaster throughout the season. They would win a few and then lose a few. However, many of the games they lost were within reach. They just lost them in the last few minutes of the game.

The Hawks were very often out-sized by their opponents. This meant that they had to work extra hard. The team used their experience, speed, and sheer desire to their advantage. They had many talented players and were the Varsity Boys definitely had their ups and downs, but all in all, it was a good season.

Kevin Crosby, only a Junior, is an excellent outside shooter. He puts the ball up again with perfect form to give the Hawks another two points.

*Our strongest point is our ability to play together as a team. —
Matt Burros*

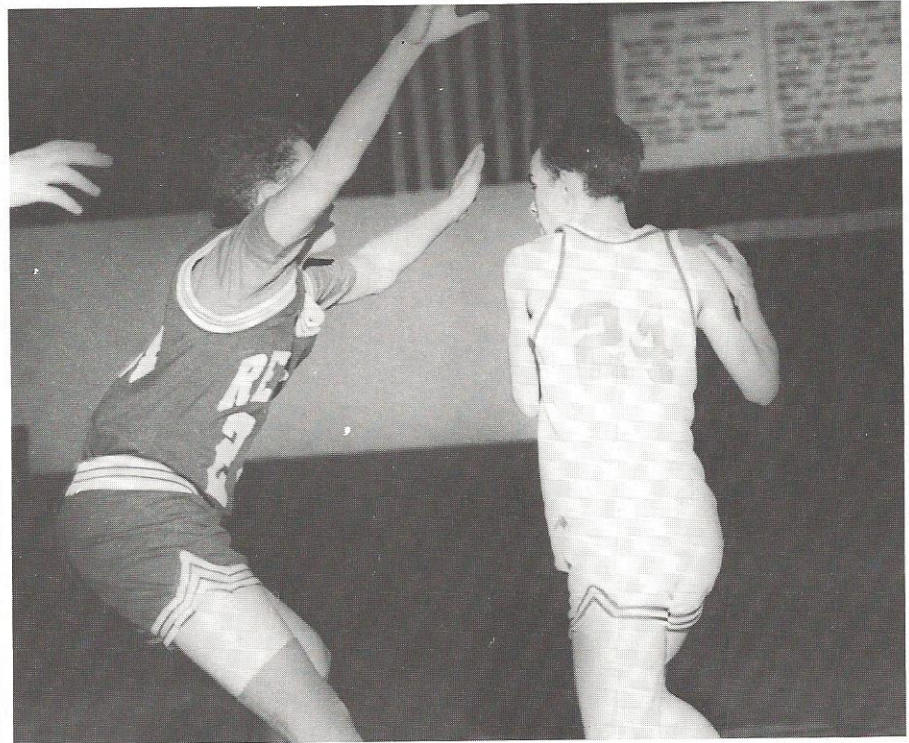

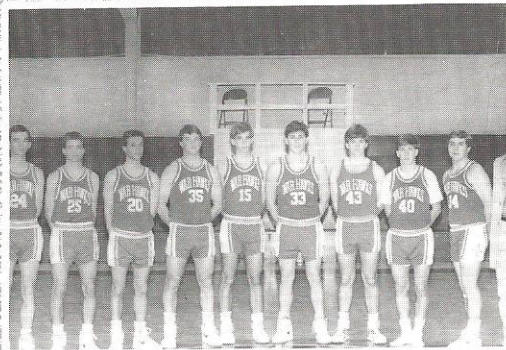

Cam Wertz, is a very valuable player to the Varsity Hawks. Here he displays his talent by putting up a perfect lay-up.

Head Coach, Danny Parnell gives the Hawks the "you know better than to do that" look, and shows them what play they are supposed to be running.

A newcomer to John C., Matt Burros, was valuable to the Hawks as a point guard. He moves around the defensive player and looks for an open man to pass the ball to.

Our goal is to finish in the top of our conference and to go to state.

Christy Steele, a Senior, shoots the ball over the Thomas Heyward opponent hoping to give the Lady Hawks two more points.

Senior, Allison Nettles, the point guard, finds the open man and then chest passes the ball to begin the offense.

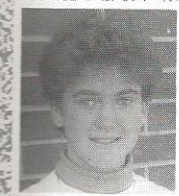

The Varsity Girls basketball team finished the 1988-89 season with an overall record of 6-14. The team consisted of twelve girls. There were four Seniors, two Juniors, three Sophomores, and three freshmen. The team was coached by Danny Parnell.

From the very beginning of the season to the very last game, the girls were determined that they were not gonna' take it anymore. The Varsity Girls had earned a reputation for losing over the last couple of years. They had to struggle for every win that they got. But the team this year was tired of carrying the losing reputation, and decided to change things.

The season started off great for the Lady Hawks. They began with a five-game winning streak. The first loss was a very close one to Mims by a score of 25-28.

The Varsity Girls lacked size but definitely had desire. They had to work hard and use their determination and hustle to give them the successful season that they had. The Lady Hawks proved that "It's not what you got. It's what you do with it."

The Varsity Girls definitely earned the respect that they were looking for. They never gave up, and they played their best right until the very end.

YOU CAN'T WIN 'EM ALL

The J.V. Boys used their talent and desire to their advantage

The Junior Varsity Boys' basketball team definitely had a great 1988-1989 season. The team, who was coached by George Brittle, finished with an overall record of 16-3. They finished first in the conference and came in second place in the conference tournament.

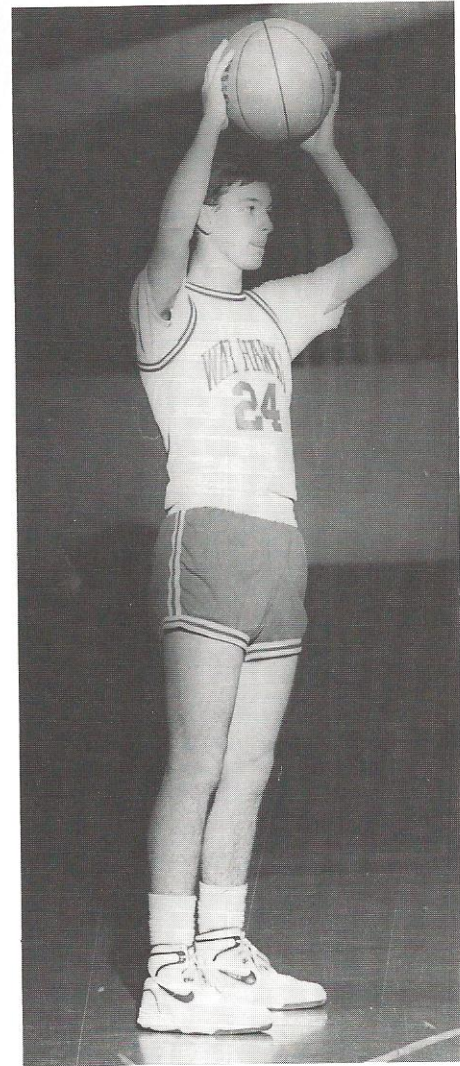

The Hawks did not have a lot of size, but they did have numerous returning players from last year. All of the returning members are talented and played with a great deal of confidence because of their previous years of experience together.

The team started the season with fourteen players. They had seven sophomores, two freshmen, and five eighth graders. About half way through the season, the team lost Sophomore, Sam Smoak, but gained Asher Howell, also a Sophomore.

The Junior Varsity Hawks began the season with a six-game winning streak. Their first loss went to conference opponent, Thomas Heyward by a heartbreaking score of 29-26. However, one loss did not get the Hawks down. They immediately began another winning streak by defeating conference opponents, Laurence Manning, First Baptist, and Jeff Davis.

The team combined their speed, talent, aggressiveness, and team work together and made the season a great one.

A FRESH START

J.V. girls work hard for a good season

The Junior Varsity Girls had a fairly successful 1988-89 season by finishing with a record of 4-14. The team, who was coached by Mrs. Corrinne Brittle, was fairly young and lacked size. However, what they lacked in size and in experience, they more than made up for in hustle and determination.

The J.V. Hawks had to make a fresh start. All five of the team's starters from last year went up to the Varsity level. But, the team made good use of what they had to have a good season. Their speed, hustle, and overall desire brought them many exciting moments throughout the season.

The team went into conference play with a record of 3-4. They lost the first three conference games, the loss to Thomas Heyward being a heartbreaker with a score of 26-24, but they got their first conference win in an exciting game against Jeff Davis. Marnie Amerson made the winning bucket with less than five seconds on the clock.

The Hawks had to work hard for what they got, but it paid off giving them a good season.

SUCCESS

*Cheering
doesn't end

A cheerleader's job does not end with football season. In fact, the cheerleaders have to work as hard or harder during basketball season. Each squad, the J.V. and the Varsity, must cheer for two consecutive games. They always stuck with their team whether they were winning or losing. The cheerleaders are important in adding enthusiasm and boosting the overall school spirit between the students and the other fans.

A WINNING ONE

The Hawks learn that losing is costly.

The Boy's Tennis team, who was coached by Diane Fishburne, had a great season last year. Finishing the regular season undefeated, they had the best record to be held by a boys' team in several years at J.C.C. Defeating teams such as Orangeburg Prep, Holly Hill, East Cooper, and Patrick Henry led the team to their 7-0 record and also to the conference title. The team lost to East Cooper in the play-offs by a heart-breaking score of 5-4. The team members were exchange students, Christian Seitz, and Carlos Cifuentes, Allen Goehring, Reaves McLeod, Drew Brightwell, Griffin Warren, Kenneth Greenwell, and Dan Dupree.

Making It Work

Age Proves Not To Affect Talent

Ending with an over-all record of 6-4, the J.C.C.A. Golf team had a winning season. The team, which consisted of six members, was the youngest one ever in the school's history. With the exception of senior, Terry Jones, all of the members were freshmen or younger. They didn't let age bother them though. In the end, it definitely proved not to be a disadvantage on talent. The team took all of the talent they had and made it work.

The Golf team really surprised head coach,

Tony Orsini, with their superior performance. All of the players had experience, but Orsini didn't expect them to start off the season as well as they did. He was especially pleased with the outstanding performance of freshmen, Edward Oswald and Toby Silber, who carried the team with their low scoring ability.

The youngsters definitely had a good season. It can be credited to a lot of hard practice and the desire to be great players.

Senior, Terry Jones, demonstrates his excellent golf stroke that helped to lead the golf team to a winning season.

Through It All

*One Point
Can Prove
To Be Costly*

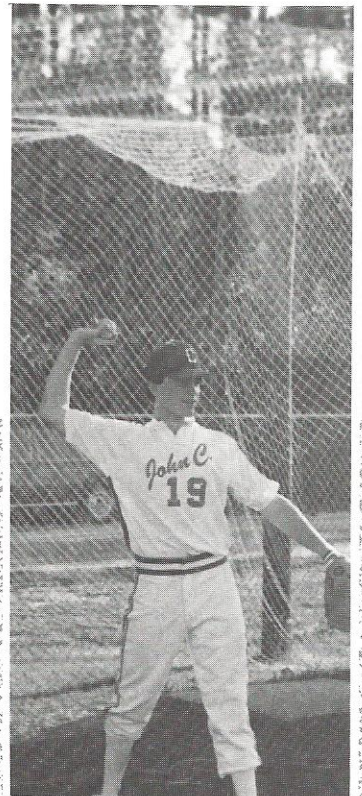

The Varsity Boys' Baseball team, coached by "Doc" Lewis and assisted by Mike Upchurch, has definitely been through it all. Rain or shine, the Hawks were out on the field every afternoon working on their infield, outfield, and taking batting practice. All of the hard work paid off, for eight games, at least. Having an overall record of 8-8, the Hawks should have had a record like 13-3. They quickly learned that one point can prove to be costly. The Hawks lost five games by only one point. There would be runners on base, eager to score, but the third out always seemed to come one batter too soon.

Fortunately, for the Hawks, Thomas Heyward was the only team in their conference. Therefore, an automatic seat in the playoffs was available. Double elimination gave the Hawks two chances to get another win, but here again, they lost by only one point to Orangeburg Prep. The Hawks were then eliminated with their second loss to Calvary by a score of 3-1.

Lance Dennis, only a seventh grader, came up from J.V. to give the Hawks a boost with his superior batting.

BREAK EVEN AND LEARN

The Lady Hawks' softball team, coached by Jim Harmon, broke even with a 5-5 record. They had a lot of talent and experience. Many of the games were within reach, but some tough breaks proved to be costly.

The season started out slow, but the Hawks began a winning streak with a 12-3 win over Dorchester. The highlight of the season was their defeat of arch rival Orangeburg Prep. The Hawks lost 12-2 in Orangeburg, but at home they defeated them 17-12. As Allison Nettles said, "When it was time to play, everyone was psyched and we were ready to win."

Unfortunately, a lot of enthusiasm wasn't there when the Hawks played First Baptist in the state tournament. They suffered a few bad breaks in the sixth inning and ended up losing 9-5. The season didn't end on a very high note, but the Hawks learned a lot and had fun.

First baseman, Wendy Ulmer, a senior makes her long legs work to the team's advantage as she catches the ball just a fraction of a second before the opponent crosses the base.

FOUR YEARS OF HIGH SCHOOL SENIORS STAND TOGETHER

When the class of '89 first walked down the halls as freshmen, they were vaguely aware of the road ahead. They had no idea how quickly those next four years would pass. Nor did they realize how much hard work and fun was ahead.

These four years have brought many changes. They have welcomed new members and sadly waved good-bye to others. All in all, they stood by each other. Someone was always there to help with homework, offer advice, or simply give a sympathetic "I care" hug.

This helping and caring attitude has transformed these 18 individuals into a unit — The Class of '89. These seniors will graduate as one, to become 18 separate units again.

Amy and Lesi seem to be very happy to be getting off the boat.

DERRICK WAYNE CROSBY

FAVORITE QUOTES: Huh hey, Get out of there

BEST MEMORIES: The beach, Susan, May 2, 7 quarts and the nature trail, Jamboree (1st TD), Jr.-Sr. weekends, SFN, forth hour, get out of there, Hug Inn

SHANNON RENEE DENNIS

FAVORITE QUOTES: That's nice, yeah, okay, really

BEST MEMORIES: All the time I spend with Al, Jr.-Sr. weekends, Homecoming, My 16th birthday, Carowinds

Scott Craven, Allison Nettles, Todd Fennell, and Michael Ritter seem to be enjoying their day off from school.

What a line up! Can you believe that the whole senior class can actually fit on the steps at Fort Sumter.

MEMORIES NOT TO BE FORGOTTEN

On August 26, 1988, 18 seniors gathered in the gym at J.C.C.A. It was the first day of their last year of high school. They half-heartedly listened to Mr. Bennett's "lecture" as they day-dreamed about the upcoming year and the years that would follow. In less than a year they would each face the "real world". They were asking themselves such questions as "Where will I go to college?" "What will I do for the rest of my life." These serious questions were soon pushed aside for more immediate ones. "What fun will we have?" "What memories will we make this year?"

One of the many memories made was taking a trip to Fort Sumter and Charleston's famous Market.

Michael Ritter, Lesi Rodgers and Wayne Crosby take a break after eating.

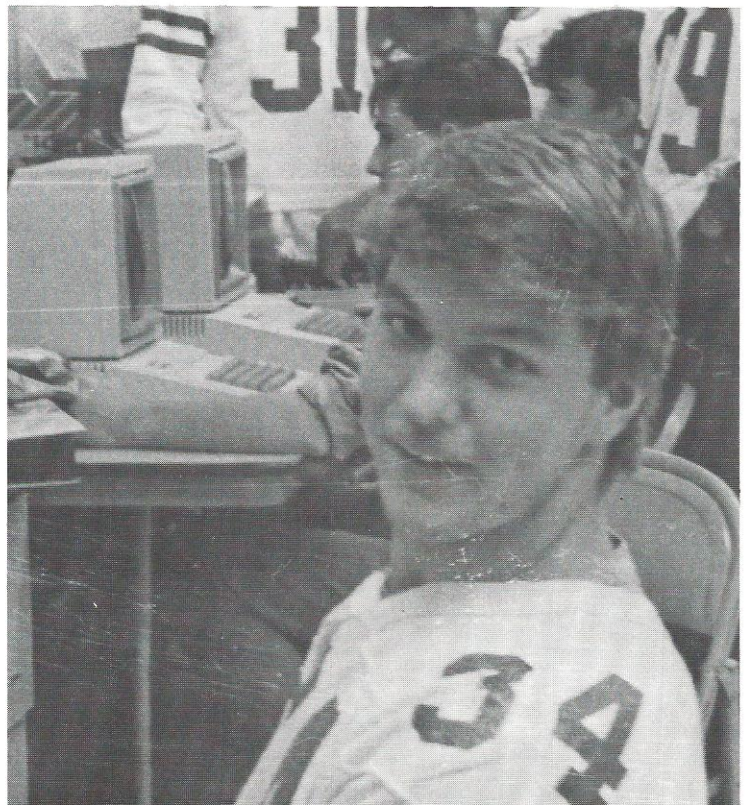

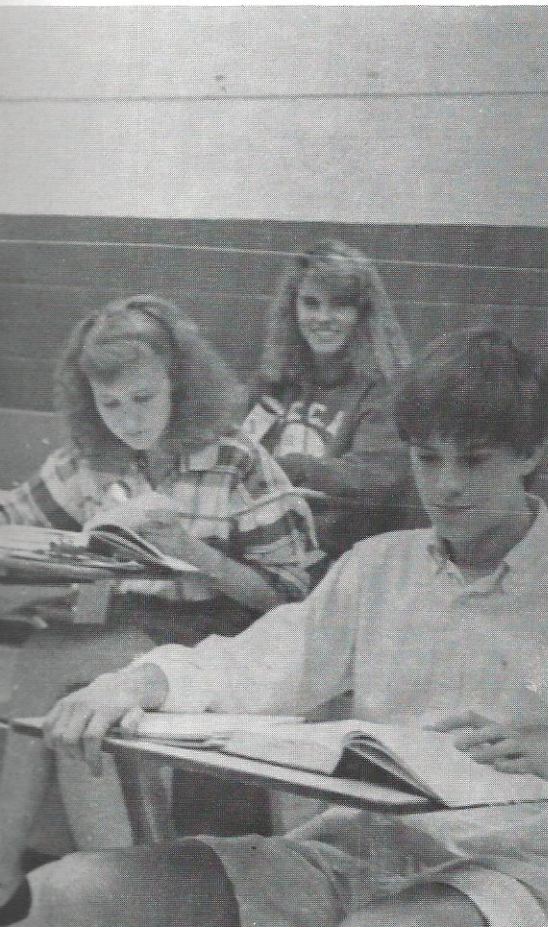

Emily Warren And Bert Reeves share some special memorable moments alone together at the Jr.-Sr. they will never forget.

David Steedley and Brian Thomas seem to be enjoying their food greatly as they had so many choices to choose from in the Gourmetissare.

Small in number but striving hard to succeed. These eight seniors are taking Calculus to help better prepare themselves for what is to be expected on college.

Most people would think of just another class to attend but Wayne Crosby seems to really be enjoying his class in Computer.

JOHNNY JOSEPH EVANS JR.

FAVORITE QUOTES: Hey BO!!, Let's crack some heads, FABOT
BEST MEMORIES: Beach parties, Jr.-Sr. weekends, the Sheek at football camp, beating Laurance Manning

SENIOR SUPERLATIVES

Mr. And Miss War Hawk

Mr. and Miss War Hawk — Todd Fennell and Amy Gentry were awarded the honor of being chosen the most distinguished senior superlative. This prestigious senior superlative, chosen by the school faculty, is given to a boy and a girl of the senior class that exemplifies the school values and characteristics. Responsibility, dependability, and student involvement were a few of the characteristics the faculty considered. Amy is editor-in-chief of the Talon, a cheerleader, a member of the War Hawk staff, a member of the National Honor Society and a member of the Spanish Club. Todd has been a member of the football, basketball, and baseball team. He also has been a member of the Student Council and a member of the Spanish club.

Most Versatile

Most Versatile — Kevin Beach and Christy Steele were chosen by the senior class for this superlative due to their outstanding ability to excel in sports, academics, and activities. Each was able to handle the responsibility of school organizations and still maintain a high grade point average.

Most Congenial

Most Congenial — Bert Reeves and Allison Nettles were chosen by the seniors as most congenial. Their bubbling personality touched the hearts of everyone in the class. Whenever a student needed someone to turn to, Bert and Allison were there to help. Their cheerful smiles and friendly actions displayed the concern they felt for others.

Most Athletic

Most Athletic — Todd Fennell and Christy Steele were chosen this superlative on the basis of their ability and willingness to participate in many athletic sports at school. Todd could be found participating in football, basketball, and baseball. Christy could be found participating in basketball and softball.

Wittiest

Wittiest — Daryl Smoak and Rhonda Smith were chosen for this superlative because of their ability to cheer someone up and to keep the class laughing. No matter what the situation, they always make the best of it.

Most School Spirited

Most School Spirited — Michael Ritter and Emily Warren are fine examples of good school spirit. Michael could always be found cheering his teammates to victory. Emily, a long standing cheerleader could be found cheering the Hawks to victory.

Miss DAR

Miss DAR — Christy Steele had the pleasure of being chosen as Miss DAR. This prestigious award is based on character, citizenship, and loyalty as a citizen.

Most Dependable

Most Dependable — Todd Fennell and Amy Gentry were chosen for this superlative due to their responsibility and dependability. If there was a job to be done, you could always turn to Amy and Todd and consider it done.

SOPHOMORES

A Rigorous Year

Many Sophomores have asked themselves where has the year gone? It was a year of hard work juggling academic responsibility with the rigors and dedication to sports.

The sophomores also enjoyed planning Spanish trips. These trips allowed them to have fun and at the same time to be learning about Spanish culture.

Freshmen Accept Hard Work.

The freshmen class finally found out that being included in all the high school activities came along with a lot of hard work and responsibility.

At the beginning of the year the freshmen had already begun to raise money for a science trip to Charlotte. They worked hard all through the year and were always ready for what was to come next.

What Makes A Great Year . . .

People, Sports, Academics, Classes, Activities

A Great Year? Exactly what is a great year? It's months filled with wonderful, exciting, memorable events. A school year nine months of learning and fun along with hard work and, sometimes disappointment.

This great year of 1988-89 has brought us close friendships and sometimes even closer relationships with a special "member of the opposite sex." We have enjoyed many John C. events together: the Halloween Carnival, Homecoming, athletic tournaments, Junior-Senior Prom — all the special times we have shared with our classmates.

Sport events put our teams to the test. They had to spend their afternoons out on the athletic fields practicing their plays in football, baseball or softball. Or they were working on their forehand on the tennis courts, or practicing free throws in the gym. Some were even walking the course at the Country Club, practicing their golf swings. And at the same time, they had to find time to study.

These seventh and eighth graders socialize while they anxiously await for the bell to ring.

What is this, Halloween in the spring? No, it's storybook week and these first graders dress up as their favorite characters.

Teachers call class time a time for structured learning, but we students know it's more than that. We had to learn also to grow up, to make the decision to learn, to accept the opportunities the teachers put before us. We had to find out just who we are, and, more than that, who we are to become.

Most importantly, we learned that learning is not a part-time job — that all those times we shared with our friends, our teachers, the staff, were times of education in all sorts of ways. While we were learning how to conjugate verbs and to find the lowest common denominator, we were learning how to live. In the pages that follow the reader can clearly see that the (1988-89 school year) was A Great Year.

A Great Year

Mrs. Linder takes time out to talk to Mrs. Walker about her son's English grades.

Nicole Ray, a yearbook photographer, works diligently after school on the next deadline.

GREAT DAY

morning, noon, and night

Drew Brightwell diligently works on his math homework for the next day.

2:20

Typical day at John C. is not much different from other schools. Everyone studies, jokes, and participates in activities. John C., however, has an advantage in that everyone is close and friendly.”

Kevin Beach

The alarm clock rang continuously, the feet hit the floor, and the body was up. This was going to be the beginning of “A GREAT DAY”. The student rose early or late as the case may have been for another day at John C. Calhoun.

Homeroom was a time for socializing and lunch orders to be placed. First period arrived and the day had really begun. After the changing of classes most students were finally awake. Only a few more classes were left before lunch. A little Geometry here and some English there took up the next few classes. The chance to pass that special note to that special person without being caught in Mrs. Linder’s class was a challenge and so was the Literature test. The bell rang and it was off to lunch.

After lunch, the day had almost ended and the anxious students awaited the final bell. Finally it was time to go, and the mad dash to the lockers and cars was made.

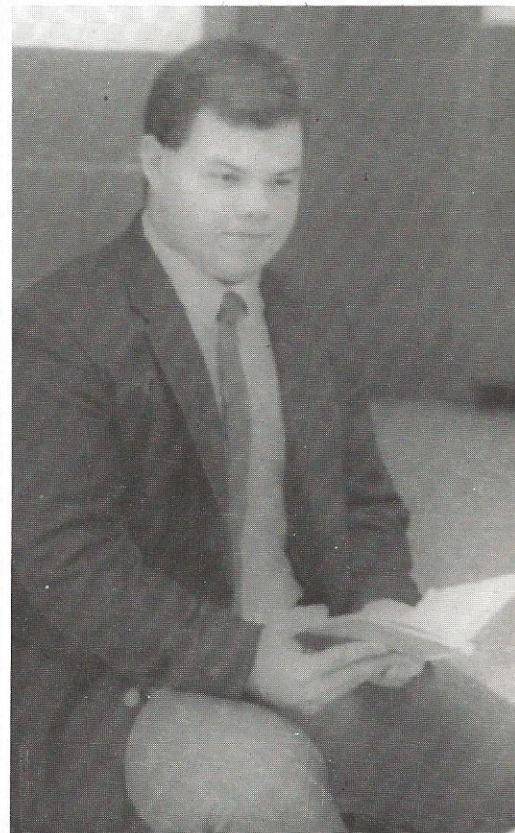

Wayne Crosby, a senior, slowly but surely gets out of his car for another day of learning.

It seems as if our photographer has taken Andy Blevins by surprise during his lunch break.

The empty parking lot is a sign that school has not begun but at 8:15 this parking lot will be filled with students and cars.

As another day ends at John C., Rhonda Smith and Emily Warren go to their cars.

J.J. Evans, a National Honor Society member, spends one day out of the week helping in the library.

FAMILY

*momma, daddy, bubba, and
sister*

“Being a student of my mother is quite difficult at times. Whenever I forget my homework, especially in her class, it’s bad. If I bomb a test it’s even worse.”

Allen Goehring

CARE

eaching my own children has been fun as well as interesting. I’ve had the chance to see another side of their personalities that I would have missed otherwise. All three have commented that it hasn’t been so bad.”

Betty Goehring

John C. Calhoun could be best described as “one big happy family” in more ways than one. Not only was the relationship between the students and the teachers close and caring academically, but many teachers and students were actually related. Mothers and fathers taught sons and daughters, grandmothers taught grandchildren, and aunts and uncles abounded. These students felt uncomfortable at times. The pressure to perform well came from both their home life and school life as well. If their grades were not up to par they would hear about them both at home and school. If a good grade had been rewarded friends would badger them constantly. As far as the teachers were concerned, they supported their kinsmen. Through the good and bad grades, the headaches and rewards, that parental care could always be found. Not only with the sons and daughters but with each individual as a whole.

Mr. Bennett has been a bad boy. Eric, his son, delivers his punishment.

Mrs. Nancy Beach and her son, Kevin, take a few moments out of their busy day to visit with each other.

Is this a family reunion? No, it's the Warren and Speaks clan. Both families are a part of our family.

Can this be right? Mrs. Linder's grandson, Will Haynes, is almost as tall as she is.

Mr. and Mrs. George Brittle are a new addition to John C.'s happy family.

TIME OUT

work, play, relaxation

Renne Dennis, a senior, spends her extra time away from school working at the hospital.

Colette Bailey

R & R

My after school time is very important to me. I spend my time talking with friends on the telephone, practicing sports, talking with friends “up town”, and working at an after school job.

Kevin Litchfield

The last bell of the day rings signalling Time Out, the most important part of the day for most students. Whether it was playing sports or the piano, students could always express themselves. Some students spent their time in front of the television hoping for Reva and Josh to unite once again. Still others were palling around with friends or taking a short nap. Students also improved their ball changes and turns by taking dance lessons.

The lower school students were involved in the exciting activities of scouting. Learning social skills and providing community services were only a few. While scouting was taking place in the lower grades, the high school students were busy with after school jobs. Much time was also consumed talking on the phone with a special friend. Homework was another item on the agenda of the day. This item always had to be done and that was a fact.

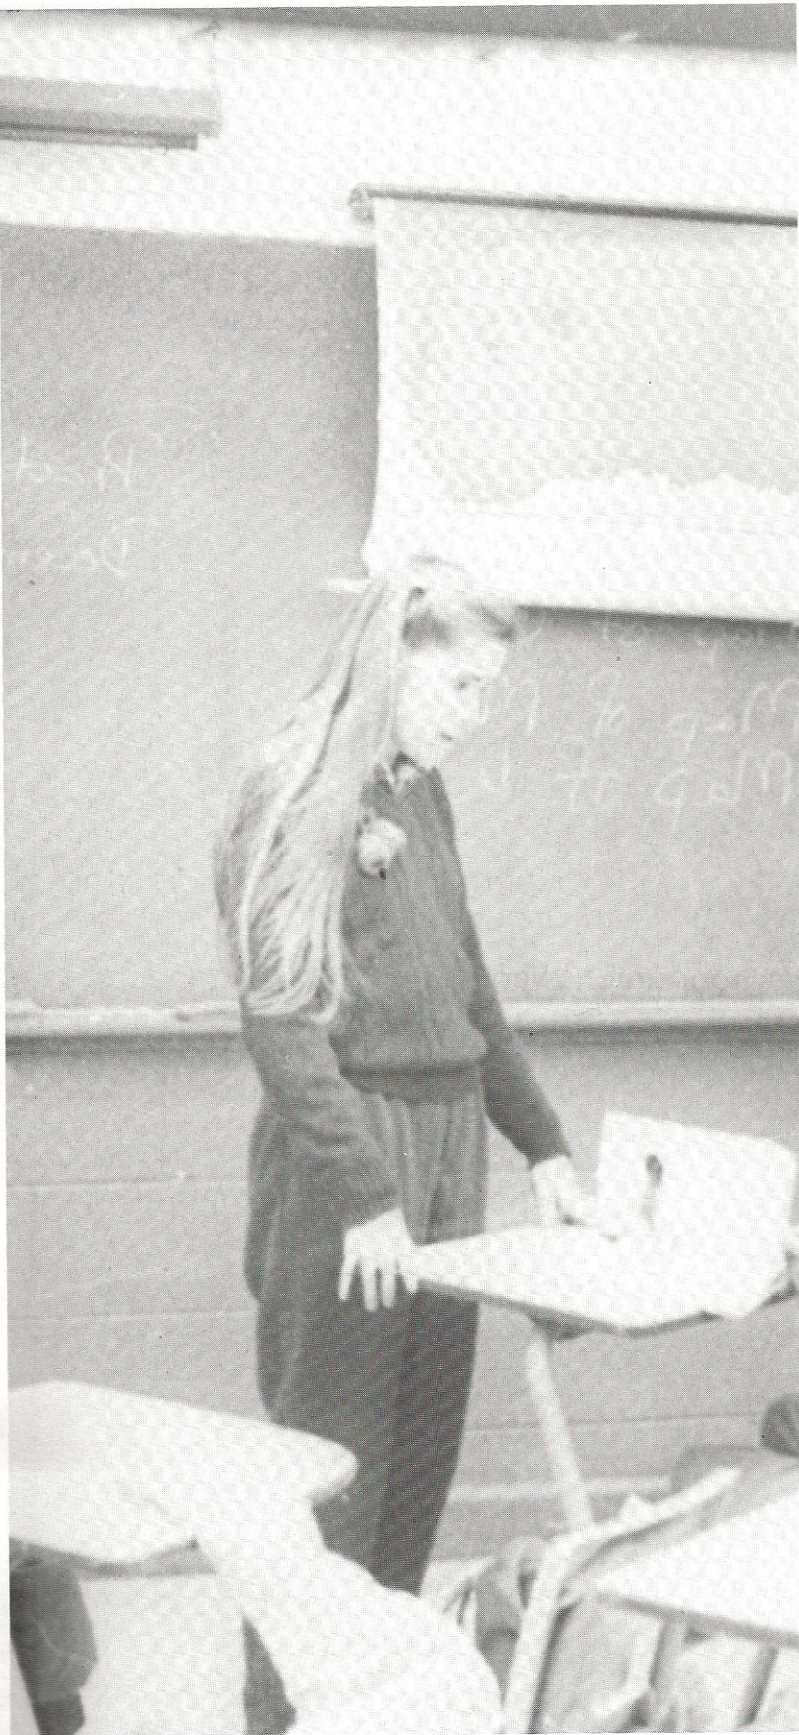

When Nicole Ray isn't busy with her studies she likes to “brush up” on her piano skills.

The yearbook photographers were able to take Ashley Biggers by surprise at a Varsity football game. Ashley is always there to support the team.

The school Cub Scout group met regularly each month. This particular meeting was held for the parents and plans were discussed about the upcoming trip.

Mrs. Corrine Brittle, a teacher at the school, also runs the after school program.

THE LOOK

hip, rad, cool, hot, out of sight

“The styles of the '80's let each person be themselves. The colors are bright and spectacular. They are all around fascinating.”

Sonya Easterlin

STYLE

The fads and fashions of today let each person be unique. Each person should dress like they want and like they mean it.”

Drew Brightwell

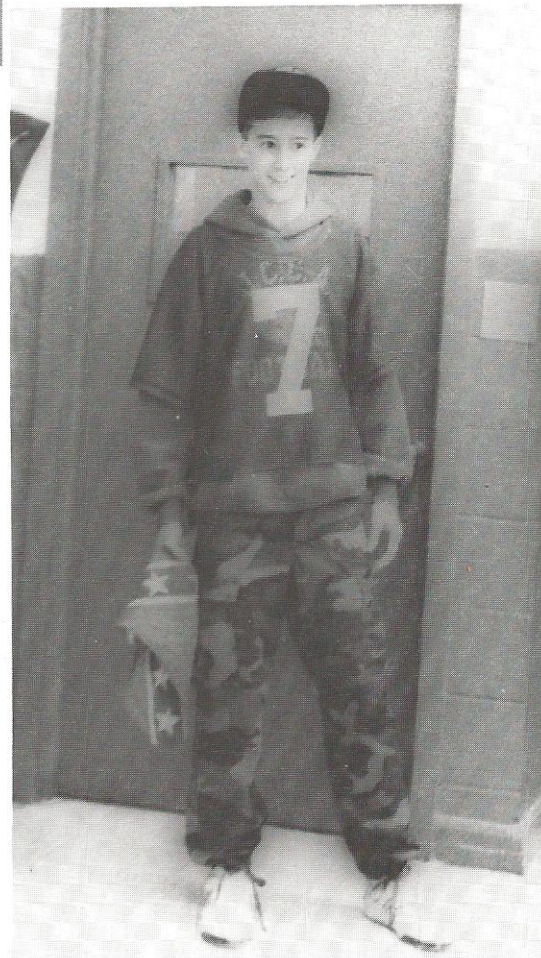

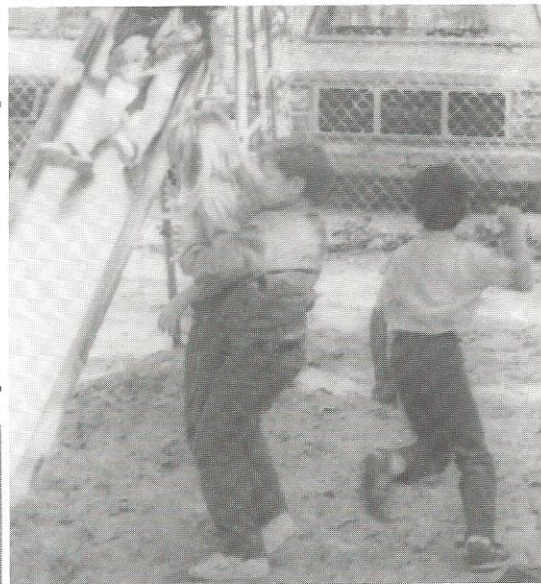

Long, short, or medium hair? What was the style for 1989? Blue jeans, dress pants, or skirts? The styles of today were changing constantly throughout the year. Each person did their own thing rather than following a trend. The sometimes unusual dress became exciting and the contemporary look was in for some.

All through the halls shorts, pants, and skirts could be seen. The ever popular “Guess” jeans and the denim jacket were there along with plaid skirts and tops. Every once in awhile a smile with something extra was seen. The flash of braces.

Hightops and skateboard attire were usually found in the lower and middle schools. While in the high school each person was doing their “own thing”.

You're never out of style when you're in a pair of jeans. They never die out.

Shane Walker, a sophomore, clearly did his “own thing”.

PECIAL

All of John C. Calhoun's students this year were special from kindergarten to seniors, but certain kids stood out. Most people would assume they stood out because they excelled in academics or athletics but there was much more to them. They were special because they were interested in helping others. Students may help within John C., such as teaching music or being library aids, or they may help outside the school such as being candy stripers. Many students were involved in Boy Scouts or 4-H clubs which get them involved in bettering their community.

Kevin Dantzler received a 4-H award for raising catfish himself.

As usual, the student council had been responsible for Homecoming preparations, Thanksgiving baskets for the needy, and a food drive for the S.P.C.A. Along with these activities, they were sponsoring a drug and alcohol education program and had met with the student council of Walterboro High school to exchange ideas and discuss future joint projects.

Emily Warren, Christy Steele, Amy Gentry, and Kevin Beach helped host the 1988 Academic Bowl hosted by John C. in the spring.

The 1988-89 National Honor Society had only given the privilege of its membership to five seniors this year. These seniors showed overwhelming qualities in scholarship, leadership, service, and character. Kevin Beach, president, J.J. Evans, sec.-treasurer; Amy Gentry, Christy Steele, and Emily Warren were the honored members of this club.

Every year between February and spring juniors that were active and have maintained a B average were inducted into the National Honor Society in a candlelight ceremony.

The chief duty of the members was to provide student assistance whenever it was needed. Traditionally, they helped in the library and were hosts and hostesses for the Academic Bowl which John C. Hosts.

Every grade has its own level of questions in English, Math, Science, Social Studies, and Current Events. Fourteen schools competed and out of the fourteen students in each grade five made it from the preliminaries to the finals. Tiger Martin won the twelfth grade competition.

PRODUCERS

This summer all of the TALON staff was kept extremely busy. Many ads had to be sold and each member was expected to sell his share. The editors had to attend a three day camp held at the John C. The TALON sponsor, Mrs. Hawes, and Jostens representatives Mr. Young, taught the new editors about layouts and interviews while old editors sharpened their skills.

Creating the TALON every year takes a lot of hard work and effort. Editors are constantly giving assignments to members which have to handle interviews on various subjects. There are always many deadlines to be met and prepared for. The editor-in-chief and Mrs. Hawes must carefully check all layouts and copy before printing.

This year's TALON staff consists of 25 members. The editor-in-chief is Amy Gentry and the editors are Charla Valentine, Emily Warren, Keri Holmes, Cristy Steele, Allison Nettles, Lesi Rodgers, and Beth Gaskin. # A TIME OF TEARS

Graduation was the end and beginning for the Class of '88. Graduation would end an important chapter in their life and open the door to many new experiences. These students soon began to realize that they would no longer be the head of the school but young men and women heading out in the big world.

As the tearful farewell was said by Amy Goehring, Valedictorian and Cindy Smith, Salutatorian, varied thoughts raced through their minds. # Jamboree Gives Good Start

Jamboree Gives Confidence To All

Juniors, Kevin Litchfield and Josh Siegel, hold the opponents back so they won't gain any extra yardage.

On August nineteenth JCC hosted a football Jamboree. Six teams and their cheerleaders came to participate. Each team played a twenty-five minute quarter. John C. played and defeated Patrick Henry 14-0. The first touchdown was made by a pass from Cam Werntz to Asher Howell. Wayne Crosby got the two point conversion. Crosby also ran the ball in for the second touchdown. Our defense held Patrick Henry scoreless.

There was also a cheerleading competition. The Varsity cheerleaders did a dance to "Brass Monkey". They won third place in the competition, while Thomas Heyward won second, and Patrick Henry won first place.

The Jamboree gave the Hawks a good start. It gave both the players and cheerleaders confidence to begin the season.

MY FAULT

*Hawks Work Hard But Have
An Unhappy Ending.*

The Varsity Football team had a frustrating season. The Hawk's overall record of 2-7 did not reflect their actual performance throughout the season.

The Hawks along with head coach, Doc Lewis, and all of the assistant coaches, began practicing in early August. A week long football camp was held at John C. to help improve the Hawks performance for the upcoming season. The Hawks got off to a good pre-season start. They played impressively in scrimages against Holly Hill and Country Day. The Hawks also defeated Patrick Henry 14-0 in the Jamboree.

The Varsity Football team started the 1988 season with a loss in double overtime, 26-19, to Clarendon Hall, who at the time was ranked No. 1 among SCISA independent teams. In their second outing, the Hawks barely defeated Roy Hudgens 7-6 to gain their first win.

After the second game of the season, the Hawks fell into a slump. It was not really anyone's fault. Injuries and illnesses were constantly hampering the Hawks. Key players were injured at various times throughout the season. Due to these injuries, many young and unexperienced players were often in the game.

The Hawks had a fairly strong defense, but they were just not able to produce offensively. It was a strange situation, because basically the same players who played on the offense also played on the defense.

Despite the losses, the Hawks never gave up. They gave their all throughout the season, but they just could not put it together. The Hawks always held their heads high. Rain or shine, they were on the field practicing everyday. A team with that sort of attitude deserves to be respected.

The War Hawk Defense breaks through the opponents offensive line to stop the ball carrier and prevent them from getting a first down.

AND NOW FOR

SOME SPIRIT

The Cheerleaders

Work Hard To

Increase Spirit

Varsity Cheerleaders, Keri Holmes, Heather Gahagan, Michelle Jones, and Amy Gentry get set to begin their sideline routine to "Brass Monkey."

What's this? Captain, Emily Warren, watches tentatively as Senior, Lesi Rodgers, demonstrates her idea of an effective cheerleading move.

The Varsity Cheerleaders began the 1988-1989 season on quite a pleasant note. During the last week in June, the squad, along with advisor, Beth Warren, left J.C.C.A. to attend cheerleading camp at Columbia College. The week was a long, hot, and hectic one. Little did the cheerleaders know that all of the sweating and practicing would pay off. The squad brought home a trophy for outstanding performance.

Soon after arrival home from camp, the cheerleaders began practicing for the competition that was soon to be held during football Jamboree. At the Jamboree, the squad won third place for their superior performance to "Brass Monkey."

The Varsity Cheerleaders worked hard throughout the year. They were constantly doing something to help encourage school spirit. Cheerleaders have to be willing to give up time that they could be using to do something else. They had spent many long hours practicing, preparing for pep rallies, selling spirit ribbons, painting spirit posters, staying after school to decorate their secret football players' lockers, and most importantly, the cheerleaders did their best to cheer the Hawks to victory.

The Varsity Cheerleaders had an all around great squad. They cheered hard throughout football and basketball season. Win or lose and rain or shine, the cheerleaders were always there to give the Hawks support and to help encourage an increase in school spirit.

VARSITY CHEERLEADERS:

Cheering allows me to be more involved in school spirit. — Charla Valentine

Cheering is a great way to support the teams and to make friends. — Amy Gentry

Varsity Cheerleading is not all fun. It's a lot of hard work. The squad gave up many long hours during the summer and after school working hard to perfect their moves for their dance and for every individual cheer.

The Varsity Cheerleaders cheered hard throughout the athletic seasons. They were always enthusiastic and supported the Hawks no matter what the circumstances were.

The Varsity Cheerleaders know that their hard work at practice had paid off when they perform a cheer in unison with perfection.

FOUR TIMES UNLUCKY

*J.V.'s Play
Hard And Gain
Experience*

The Junior Varsity Football team had a good season. Their hard work at practice everyday had paid off when the team finished with an overall record of 2-4.

The J.V. Boys, who were coached by George Brittle and assisted by Jim Harmon, consisted of boys in grades six through ten. Having had many ninth and tenth graders, the team had a lot of experience. Their experience had been evident by the way they performed on the field.

The disappointing loss of the season was to Holly Hill.

The team was really looking for a win because Coach Brittle had come to John C. from Holly Hill. The Hawks had played with enthusiasm throughout the game, but Holly Hill prevailed 14-13.

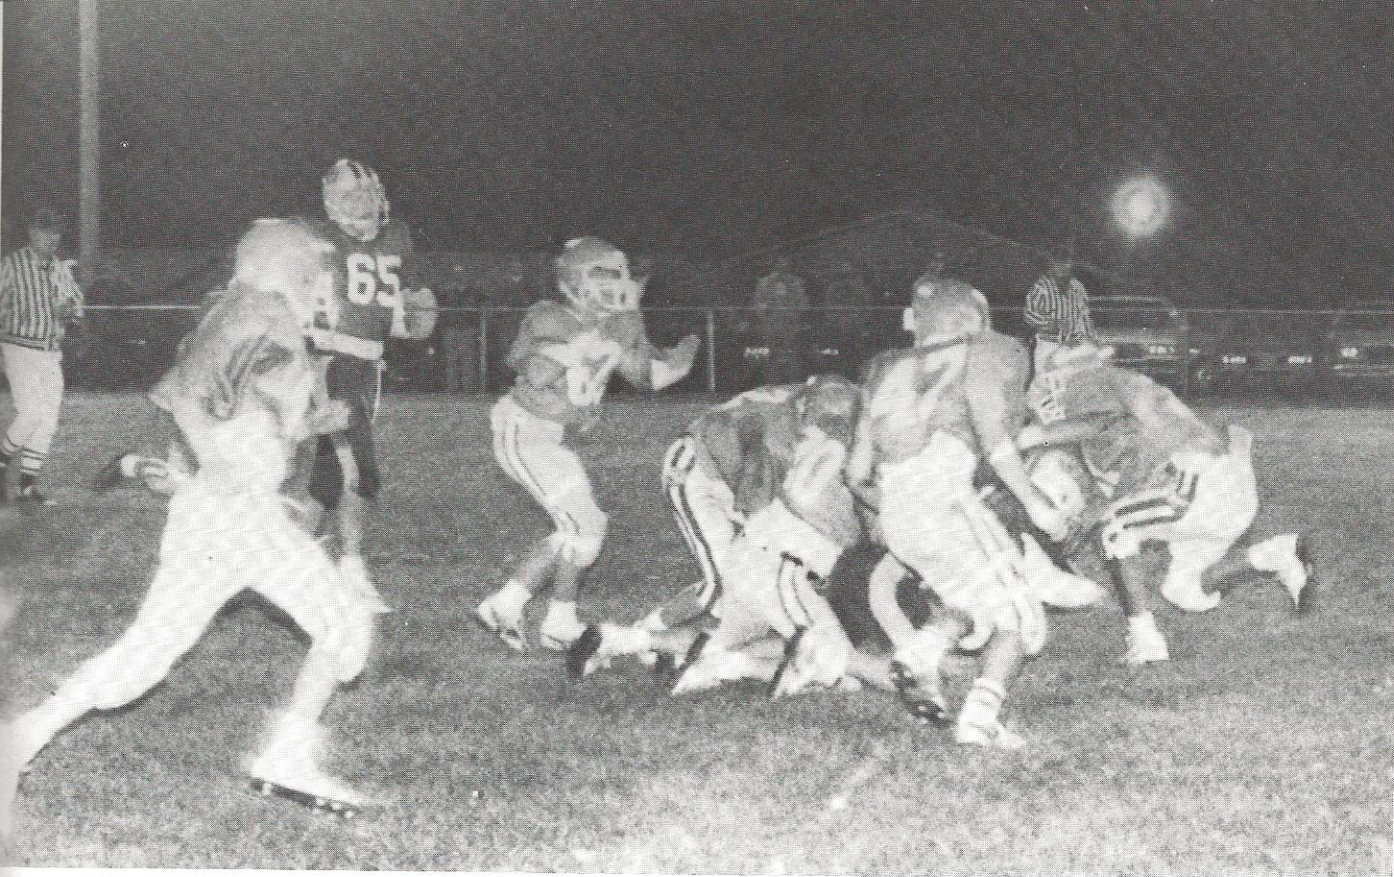

Over the course of the season, the Junior Varsity boys had proved that they knew how to play competitive football. Many of the older players will take what they have learned up to the Varsity level next year, and the younger players will have the chance to gain the experience that they will need for Varsity.

Freshman, Buck Howell, grabs the opponent's foot to make him fall to the ground just short of the first down while Sophomore, Drew Brightwell (66), and Freshman, Griffin Warren (44), follow close behind to be of help if needed.

The Hawk's defensive unit all collapse over the opponent to prevent them from gaining the yard necessary for a first down.

Robby Padgett, a Freshman, listens to the referees rules and regulations for the upcoming football game.

The Junior Varsity cheerleaders had the spirit, confidence, and determination that is necessary to be a great squad. Practicing long hours, staying after school to paint spirit posters, selling ribbons, and selling programs at Varsity football games showed the girls' dedication to being successful cheerleaders.

There were only two members on the squad who had never cheered before. With the help and encouragement of sponsor, Mrs. Sandy Tyler, and the remaining girls, the two newcomers quickly became "one of the group."

The Junior Varsity cheer-

leader's job did not end with cheering their team to victory. The squad felt it was their duty to be one another's friend. Being a successful squad came naturally to the girls because they had been together for many years. They carried their binding friendships with them throughout the year. It was not the least bit unusual to see them helping one another with personal problems or for them to celebrate a friend's birthday after practice. Having so much enthusiasm and being as close as these girls were, it is no surprise that they had such a great squad.

Learning to be successful cheerleaders is a lot of hard work. The Junior Varsity Cheerleaders spent many long hours after school practicing to perfect their cheers and shoulder stands. Their sponsor, Mrs. Sandy Tyler, was always there to help them.

The Junior Varsity Cheerleaders were not just a cheering squad. They were also friends. They could always be found smiling and laughing with one another.

WHAT YOU SEE IS WHAT YOU GET

The girls 1988-89 tennis team was the youngest one that John C. has ever had. The oldest member of the team was Alison Goehring who is only a Sophomore. The remaining team members were Freshmen, Lee McConnell and Kristie Smith, Eighth graders, Marie Deloach, Felicia Fagnoli, Cope Johnston, and Dargon Rowe, and a Sixth grader, Kimberly Smith.

The girls, despite their young age, used their talent, desire, and the help of their coach, Diane Fishburn, to have a successful season. The team, finishing with an overall record of 4-2, won the conference title again this year to qualify for the state play-offs. The girls performed well, but lost in region play to Orangeburg Prep.

AN IMPORTANT PART

*There is more
to a team than

Many people do not realize what goes on "behind the scenes" during a football, basketball, or baseball game. Trainers, managers, and bookkeepers stay hard at work filling water bottles, taping ankles, and marking fouls.

These people do not often get the recognition that they deserve, but they are definitely an essential part of a team, and it could not function without them.

Archie Murdaugh, a Freshman, was a manager for the Varsity Football team. He spent many long hours in the hot summer sun with the team filling water bottles and doing other various jobs.

Beth Gaskin, a Junior, enjoys keeping the books for the J.V. and Varsity Girls' Basketball teams. She has to remain alert to the score, fouls, and who is in the game.

Kevin Beach, a Senior, was the head manager of the Varsity Football team. Kevin has been the manager for three years.

A NEW TEAM IS BORN

*Varsity Boys have
ter "rebuilding".*

The Varsity Boys basketball team, who was coached by Danny Parnell, worked very hard throughout the 1988-1989 season and managed to finish with a 9-12 season. The team had a lot of work on their hands from the very beginning. All of the starters plus some other very good players from last year had graduated. The Varsity Boys had to completely rebuild and to find a group that could perform well together.

The Hawks started the season with approximately fifteen players and ended the season with only ten players. At the end of the season, there were four Seniors, five Juniors, and one Sophomore. They lost many players for various reasons. Injuries were also constantly hampering the Hawks. Starter, Eric Bennett, had an ankle injury that kept him out for the majority of the season.

The Varsity Boys rode on a roller coaster throughout the season. They would win a few and then lose a few. However, many of the games they lost were within reach. They just lost them in the last few minutes of the game.

The Hawks were very often out-sized by their opponents. This meant that they had to work extra hard. The team used their experience, speed, and sheer desire to their advantage. They had many talented players and were the Varsity Boys definitely had their ups and downs, but all in all, it was a good season.

Kevin Crosby, only a Junior, is an excellent outside shooter. He puts the ball up again with perfect form to give the Hawks another two points.

*Our strongest point is our ability
to play together as a team. —
Matt Burros*

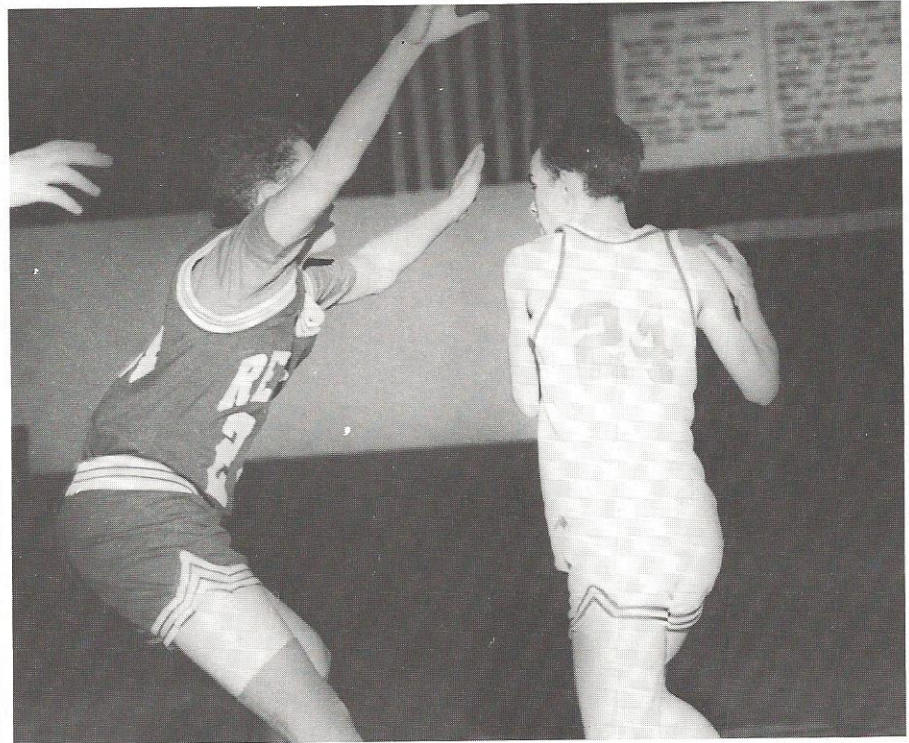

Cam Wertz, is a very valuable player to the Varsity Hawks. Here he displays his talent by putting up a perfect lay-up.

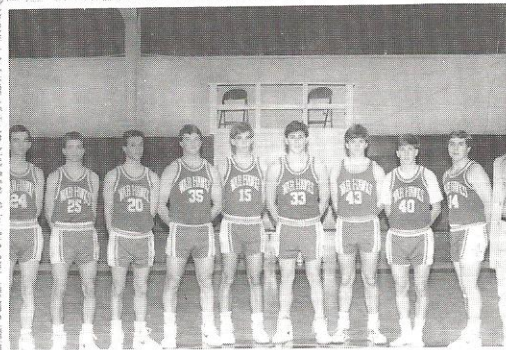

Head Coach, Danny Parnell gives the Hawks the "you know better than to do that" look, and shows them what play they are supposed to be running.

A newcomer to John C., Matt Burros, was valuable to the Hawks as a point guard. He moves around the defensive player and looks for an open man to pass the ball to.

Our goal is to finish in the top of our conference and to go to state.

Christy Steele, a Senior, shoots the ball over the Thomas Heyward opponent hoping to give the Lady Hawks two more points.

Senior, Allison Nettles, the point guard, finds the open man and then chest passes the ball to begin the offense.

The Varsity Girls basketball team finished the 1988-89 season with an overall record of 6-14. The team consisted of twelve girls. There were four Seniors, two Juniors, three Sophomores, and three freshmen. The team was coached by Danny Parnell.

From the very beginning of the season to the very last game, the girls were determined that they were not gonna' take it anymore. The Varsity Girls had earned a reputation for losing over the last couple of years. They had to struggle for every win that they got. But the team this year was tired of carrying the losing reputation, and decided to change things.

The season started off great for the Lady Hawks. They began with a five-game winning streak. The first loss was a very close one to Mims by a score of 25-28.

The Varsity Girls lacked size but definitely had desire. They had to work hard and use their determination and hustle to give them the successful season that they had. The Lady Hawks proved that "It's not what you got. It's what you do with it."

The Varsity Girls definitely earned the respect that they were looking for. They never gave up, and they played their best right until the very end.

YOU CAN'T WIN 'EM ALL

The J.V. Boys used their talent and desire to their advantage

The Junior Varsity Boys' basketball team definitely had a great 1988-1989 season. The team, who was coached by George Brittle, finished with an overall record of 16-3. They finished first in the conference and came in second place in the conference tournament.

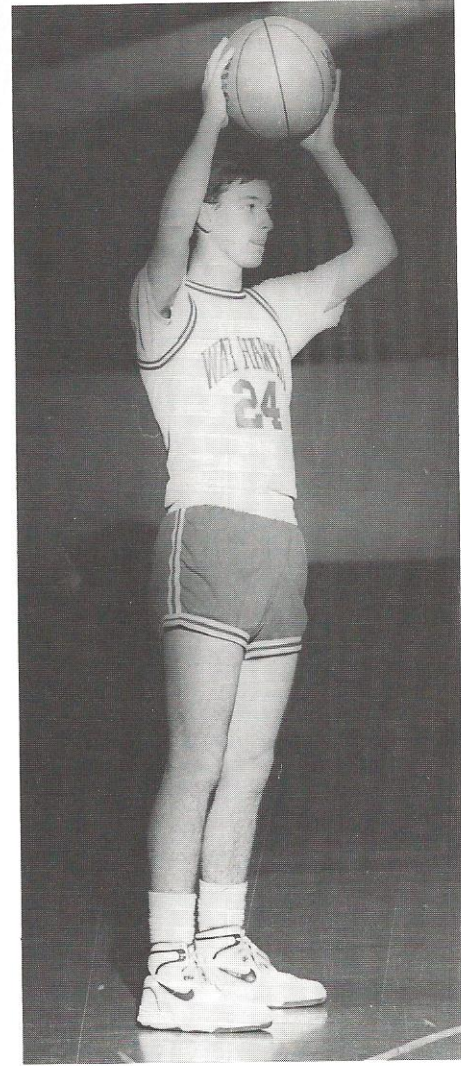

The Hawks did not have a lot of size, but they did have numerous returning players from last year. All of the returning members are talented and played with a great deal of confidence because of their previous years of experience together.

The team started the season with fourteen players. They had seven sophomores, two freshmen, and five eighth graders. About half way through the season, the team lost Sophomore, Sam Smoak, but gained Asher Howell, also a Sophomore.

The Junior Varsity Hawks began the season with a six-game winning streak. Their first loss went to conference opponent, Thomas Heyward by a heartbreaking score of 29-26. However, one loss did not get the Hawks down. They immediately began another winning streak by defeating conference opponents, Laurence Manning, First Baptist, and Jeff Davis.

The team combined their speed, talent, aggressiveness, and team work together and made the season a great one.

A FRESH START

J.V. girls work hard for a good season

The Junior Varsity Girls had a fairly successful 1988-89 season by finishing with a record of 4-14. The team, who was coached by Mrs. Corrinne Brittle, was fairly young and lacked size. However, what they lacked in size and in experience, they more than made up for in hustle and determination.

The J.V. Hawks had to make a fresh start. All five of the team's starters from last year went up to the Varsity level. But, the team made good use of what they had to have a good season. Their speed, hustle, and overall desire brought them many exciting moments throughout the season.

The team went into conference play with a record of 3-4. They lost the first three conference games, the loss to Thomas Heyward being a heartbreaker with a score of 26-24, but they got their first conference win in an exciting game against Jeff Davis. Marnie Amerson made the winning bucket with less than five seconds on the clock.

The Hawks had to work hard for what they got, but it paid off giving them a good season.

HELPING COURT

SUCCESS

*Cheering
with football.*

A cheerleader's job does not end with football season. In fact, the cheerleaders have to work as hard or harder during basketball season. Each squad, the J.V. and the Varsity, must cheer for two consecutive games. They always stuck with their team whether they were winning or losing. The cheerleaders are important in adding enthusiasm and boosting the overall school spirit between the students and the other fans.

A Senior, Lesi Rodgers, a Varsity Cheerleader, performs the cheer during a quarter change perfectly.

A WINNING ONE

The Hawks learn that losing is costly.

The Boy's Tennis team, who was coached by Diane Fishburne, had a great season last year. Finishing the regular season undefeated, they had the best record to be held by a boys' team in several years at J.C.C. Defeating teams such as Orangeburg Prep, Holly Hill, East Cooper, and Patrick Henry led the team to their 7-0 record and also to the conference title. The team lost to East Cooper in the play-offs by a heart-breaking score of 5-4. The team members were exchange students, Christian Seitz, and Carlos Cifuentes, Allen Goehring, Reaves McLeod, Drew Brightwell, Griffin Warren, Kenneth Greenwell, and Dan Dupree.

Making It Work

Age Proves Not To Affect Talent

Ending with an over-all record of 6-4, the J.C.C.A. Golf team had a winning season. The team, which consisted of six members, was the youngest one ever in the school's history. With the exception of senior, Terry Jones, all of the members were freshmen or younger. They didn't let age bother them though. In the end, it definitely proved not to be a disadvantage on talent. The team took all of the talent they had and made it work.

The Golf team really surprised head coach,

Tony Orsini, with their superior performance. All of the players had experience, but Orsini didn't expect them to start off the season as well as they did. He was especially pleased with the outstanding performance of freshmen, Edward Oswald and Toby Silber, who carried the team with their low scoring ability.

The youngsters definitely had a good season. It can be credited to a lot of hard practice and the desire to be great players.

Senior, Terry Jones, demonstrates his excellent golf stroke that helped to lead the golf team to a winning season.

Through It All

*One Point
Can Prove
To Be Costly*

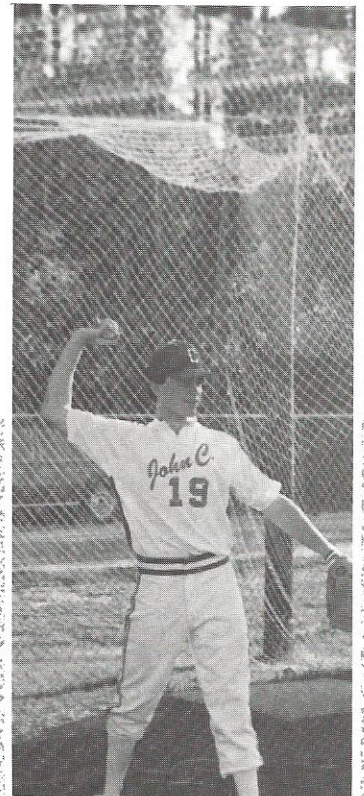

The Varsity Boys' Baseball team, coached by "Doc" Lewis and assisted by Mike Upchurch, has definitely been through it all. Rain or shine, the Hawks were out on the field every afternoon working on their infield, outfield, and taking batting practice. All of the hard work paid off, for eight games, at least. Having an overall record of 8-8, the Hawks should have had a record like 13-3. They quickly learned that one point can prove to be costly. The Hawks lost five games by only one point. There would be runners on base, eager to score, but the third out always seemed to come one batter too soon.

Fortunately, for the Hawks, Thomas Heyward was the only team in their conference. Therefore, an automatic seat in the playoffs was available. Double elimination gave the Hawks two chances to get another win, but here again, they lost by only one point to Orangeburg Prep. The Hawks were then eliminated with their second loss to Calvary by a score of 3-1.

Lance Dennis, only a seventh grader, came up from J.V. to give the Hawks a boost with his superior batting.

*Tough Breaks And Bad Luck
Can Hurt*

BREAK EVEN AND LEARN

The Lady Hawks' softball team, coached by Jim Harmon, broke even with a 5-5 record. They had a lot of talent and experience. Many of the games were within reach, but some tough breaks proved to be costly.

The season started out slow, but the Hawks began a winning streak with a 12-3 win over Dorchester. The highlight of the season was their defeat of arch rival Orangeburg Prep. The Hawks lost 12-2 in Orangeburg, but at home they defeated them 17-12. As Allison Nettles said, "When it was time to play, everyone was psyched and we were ready to win."

Unfortunately, a lot of enthusiasm wasn't there when the Hawks played First Baptist in the state tournament. They suffered a few bad breaks in the sixth inning and ended up losing 9-5. The season didn't end on a very high note, but the Hawks learned a lot and had fun.

Only a sophomore, power hitter, Susan Zeigler, rounds the bases and heads toward home plate to give the Hawks another point. Susan lead the Hawks offensively throughout the season with many homeruns in crucial situations.

First baseman, Wendy Ulmer, a senior makes her long legs work to the team's advantage as she catches the ball just a fraction on a second before the opponent crosses the base.

When the class of '89 first walked down the halls as freshmen, they were vaguely aware of the road ahead. They had no idea how quickly those next four years would pass. Nor did they realize how much hard work and fun was ahead.

These four years have brought many changes. They have welcomed new members and sadly waved good-bye to others. All in all, they stood by each other. Someone was always there to help with homework, offer advice, or simply give a sympathetic "I care" hug. This helping and caring attitude has transformed these 18 individuals into a unit — The Class of '89. These seniors will graduate as one, to become 18 separate units again.

MEMORIES NOT TO BE FORGOTTEN

On August 26, 1988, 18 seniors gathered in the gym at J.C.C.A. It was the first day of their last year of high school. They half-heartedly listened to Mr. Bennett's "lecture" as they day-dreamed about the upcoming year and the years that would follow. In less than a year they would each face the "real world". They were asking themselves such questions as "Where will I go to college?" "What will I do for the rest of my life." These serious questions were soon pushed aside for more immediate ones. "What fun will we have?" "What memories will we make this year?"

One of the many memories made was taking a trip to Fort Sumter and Charleston's famous Market.

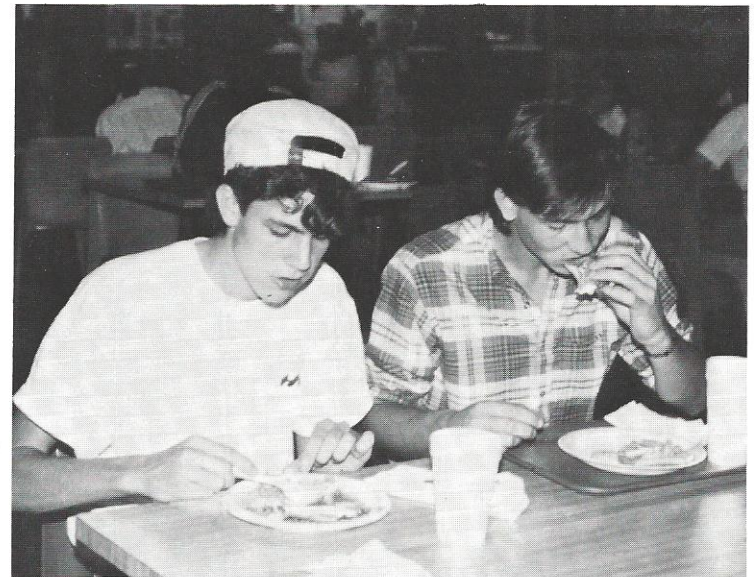

These Seniors sit impatiently as they await the arrival at Fort Sumter.

Michael Ritter, Lesi Rodgers and Wayne Crosby take a break after eating.

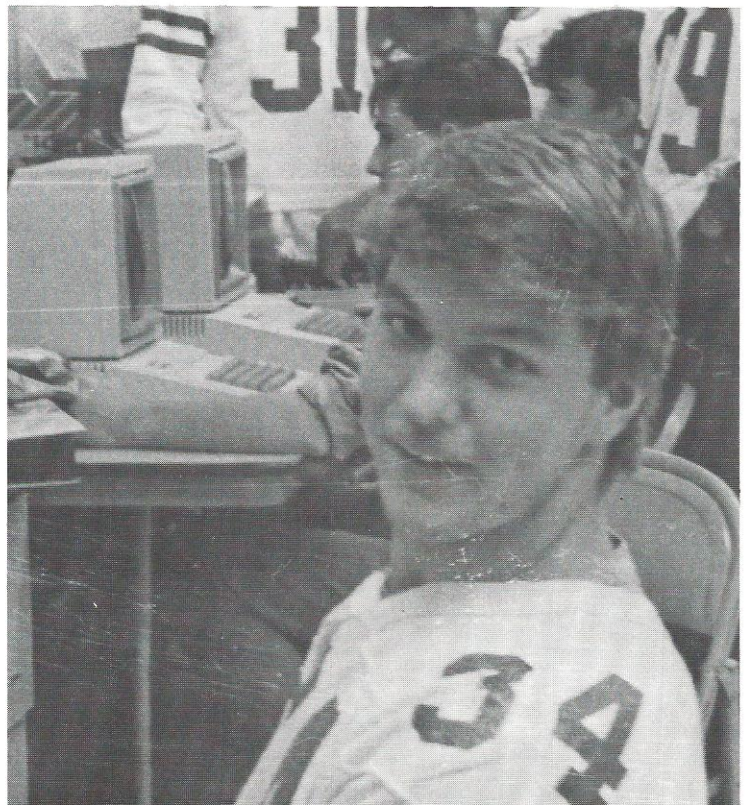

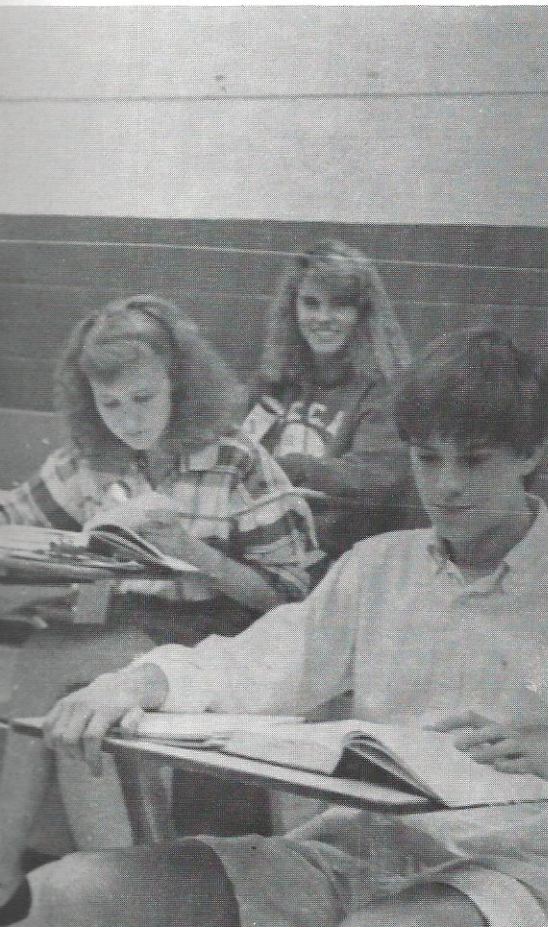

Emily Warren And Bert Reeves share some special memorable moments alone together at the Jr.-Sr. they will never forget.

David Steedley and Brian Thomas seem to be enjoying their food greatly as they had so many choices to choose from in the Gourmetissare.

Small in number but striving hard to succeed. These eight seniors are taking Calculus to help better prepare themselves for what is to be expected on college.

SENIOR SUPERLATIVES

Mr. And Miss War Hawk

Mr. and Miss War Hawk — Todd Fennell and Amy Gentry were awarded the honor of being chosen the most distinguished senior superlative. This prestigious senior superlative, chosen by the school faculty, is given to a boy and a girl of the senior class that exemplifies the school values and characteristics. Responsibility, dependability, and student involvement were a few of the characteristics the faculty considered. Amy is editor-in-chief of the Talon, a cheerleader, a member of the War Hawk staff, a member of the National Honor Society and a member of the Spanish Club. Todd has been a member of the football, basketball, and baseball team. He also has been a member of the Student Council and a member of the Spanish club.

Most Versatile

Most Versatile — Kevin Beach and Christy Steele were chosen by the senior class for this superlative due to their outstanding ability to excel in sports, academics, and activities. Each was able to handle the responsibility of school organizations and still maintain a high grade point average.

Most Congenial

Most Congenial — Bert Reeves and Allison Nettles were chosen by the seniors as most congenial. Their bubbling personality touched the hearts of everyone in the class. Whenever a student needed someone to turn to, Bert and Allison were there to help. Their cheerful smiles and friendly actions displayed the concern they felt for others.

Most Athletic

Most Athletic — Todd Fennell and Christy Steele were chosen this superlative on the basis of their ability and willingness to participate in many athletic sports at school. Todd could be found participating in football, basketball, and baseball. Christy could be found participating in basketball and softball.

Wittiest

Wittiest — Daryl Smoak and Rhonda Smith were chosen for this superlative because of their ability to cheer someone up and to keep the class laughing. No matter what the situation, they always make the best of it.

Miss DAR

Miss DAR — Christy Steele had the pleasure of being chosen as Miss DAR. This prestigious award is based on character, citizenship, and loyalty as a citizen.

Most School Spirited

Most School Spirited — Michael Ritter and Emily Warren are fine examples of good school spirit. Michael could always be found cheering his teammates to victory. Emily, a long standing cheerleader could be found cheering the Hawks to victory.

Most Dependable

Most Dependable — Todd Fennell and Amy Gentry were chosen for this superlative due to their responsibility and dependability. If there was a job to be done, you could always turn to Amy and Todd and consider it done.

JUNIORS

A Future With Promise

The junior class was growing up; and had been busy all year with many projects to raise money. They sold magazine subscriptions and doughnuts and cakes at raffles.

The Homecoming Dance, Haunted House, and the Junior-Senior highlighted this busy, industrious year. The long awaited arrival of class rings gave all juniors a sense of accomplishment and zeal for the year ahead.

SOPHOMORES

A Rigorous Year

Many Sophomores have asked themselves where has the year gone? It was a year of hard work juggling academic responsibility with the rigors and dedication to sports.

The sophomores also enjoyed planning Spanish trips. These trips allowed them to have fun and at the same time to be learning about Spanish culture.

Freshmen Accept Hard Work.

The freshmen class finally found out that being included in all the high school activities came along with a lot of hard work and responsibility.

At the beginning of the year the freshmen had already begun to raise money for a science trip to Charlotte. They worked hard all through the year and were always ready for what was to come next.

Study! Study!

The third grade curriculum was packed full with math, reading, language, science, South Carolina history and much more. The third grade studied rocks, volcanoes, dinosaurs, and planets in science.

They also learned how to plot hurricanes by latitude and longitude.

The third grade went on a trip to the State House and to the new State Museum in Columbia.

Second Grade Expand Their Horizons

The second grade was a group of boys and girls who always had something to do. Whether it was learning how to multiply or work with computers, these students were always busy.

These boys and girls even held a mock presidential election. The students learned about the voting and electing processes. The Bush and Quayle ticket won unanimously among the kids.

After Christmas the students learned to write in cursive. They also awaited the end of the year field trip.

When asked what their favorite class was, many commented P.E. while others said computer. No matter what the task was the second grade was able to handle and accomplish it.

Activities Keep The First Grade Busy

The first graders learned about themselves, their community, and their families. They have taken field trips to help them know more about people and places in their communities.

The first grade did exciting things this year. They included an authentic dress up Thanksgiving dinner, dress up book reports, and having pen pals with another first grade class somewhere in the United States.

KINDERGARTEN

Kindergarteners Get Use To Change.

This year was a big transition for the kindergarteners. They got used to getting up early and having to go to school. By Christmas, they started reading stories. The kindergarten class had computer, P.E., music, and library each week. In Math, they learned to make patterns, sort, count, add, and subtract by using manipulatives.

Teachers, Students

All Working Together

Being a fourth grade teacher and a varsity cheerleading sponsor is hard work but it does pay off. It makes me feel like I am more a part in school activities and working with everyone is a reward in its self.

Beth Warren

As the sponsor for the Ski Club, Mr. Bennett looks over the ski maps and balances the checks.

The staff of John C. Calhoun Academy is involved in teaching students the curriculum. Many staff members are also sponsors of extracurricular activities. Many hours away from home and on the phone are dedicated to students at "John C."

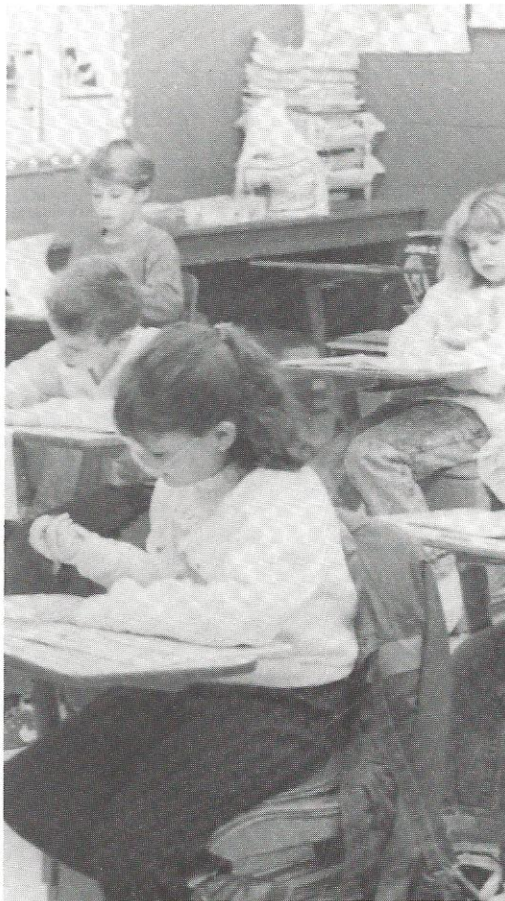

Mr. Bennett sponsors a ski trip; Mrs. Folk sponsors the Spanish Club; Mrs. Griffith gives her time to the junior class; Mrs. Goehring is the "War Hawk" advisor; Mrs. Speaks produces "The Shrieker," the monthly newsletter, and Mrs. Linder is the senior class sponsor. Mrs. Warren and Mrs. Tyler sponsor the cheerleaders. We would like to thank you.

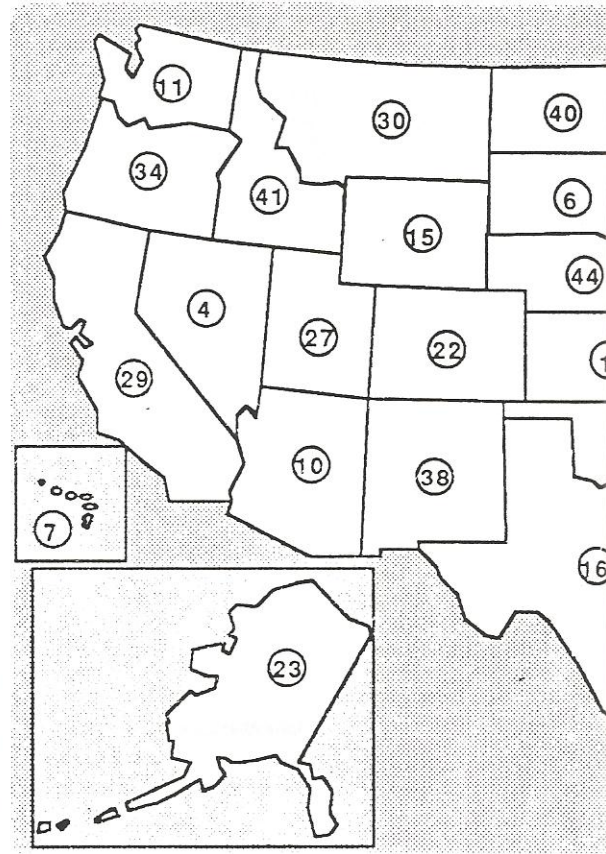

Beth Warren holds a football like the one thrown by the varsity cheerleaders at the Homecoming game.

Fourth graders work on a handout concerning Africa.

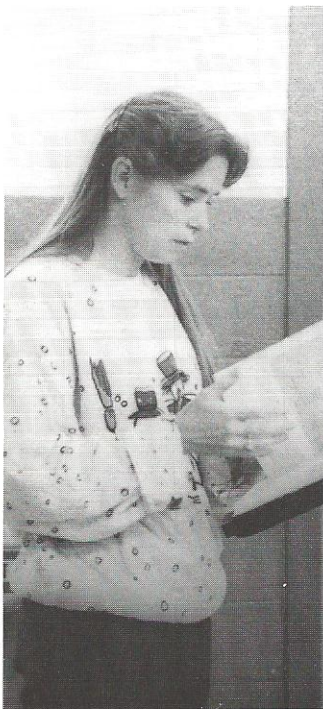

Mrs. Brittle teaches the eighth grade about world geography.

s) Kansas — 1.
t) South Carolina — 25, that is if you go along with native Charlestonians who believe that the Ashley and Cooper rivers come together to form the Atlantic. As for the doubters, perhaps you haven't lived here long enough yet.

Controversy stirs in the world of academics! Many people believe that geography is being neglected in America's classrooms. However, when the J.C.C.A. eighth graders were tested, they scored above the average. The tenth graders also performed well. Locating countries, bodies of water, mountain ranges, and other geographical information is stressed at John C. Maps appear not only in geography class, but in history classes as well. Students realize that their understanding of geography is important in order to have a well rounded education.

Mrs. Wertz conducts a lesson on maps.

Mrs. Bazzle tries to explain this problem to the eleventh grade Algebra class.

Changing from Kindergarten teacher to Senior composition and ninth grade literature teacher proves to be a real "challenge."

Teachers Add Depth

New Staff Brings Excitement

Every year new faculty members are welcomed to John C. Calhoun. This year Mrs. Kitty Howell joined us and taught the fifth grade. Coach George Brittle taught P.E. to the lower school, history, Earth Science, and computer science. Mrs. Kate Davenport put all her energy into teaching the first grade. Mr. Christopher Goodrich taught the upper school math. Mrs. Lynn Bazzle was involved with teaching Algebra.

With new teachers came new help. Mrs. Tina Mitchell helped with the kindergarten class five days a week. Mrs. Sandy Tylor also helped with the lower school P.E. and also with the first grade. Many different mothers also gave their time to help teach computer classes to grades K — 5.

Changes were always taking place on the John C. staff. Mrs. Hagood had changed her role this year. She moved from teaching the kindergarten to teaching English and composition. Mrs. Hagood enjoyed the changes and new experiences. She hopes to remain at this level for some time.

Part-time teachers also played an integral role at John C. For example, Mrs. Mimi Wertz gave up one hour each day to teach world history. Mrs. Peggy Smoak, another "part-timer", was here until fourth period. Mrs. Betsy Moody taught sixth and seventh grade science two periods every day.

The students at John C. hope to keep this wonderful staff. They appreciated all the effort to help them.

Mrs. Kitty Howell tries to help this fifth grader with his reading.

Help! Mrs. Mitchell quickly helps these kindergarten children with the glue.

Mr. and Mrs. Brittle talk over lesson plans.

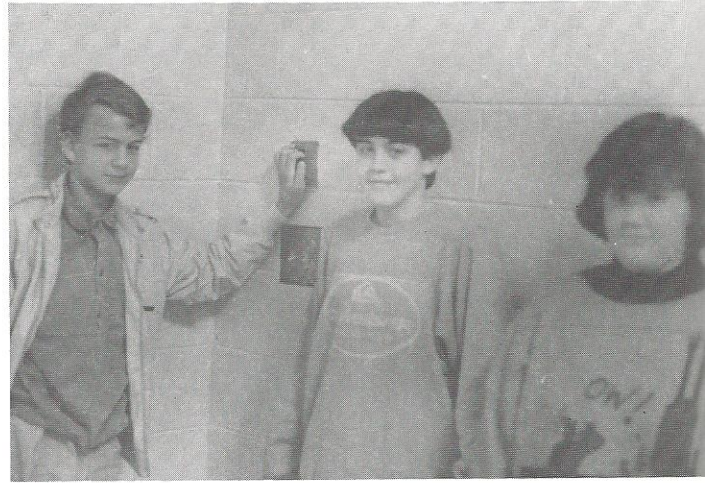

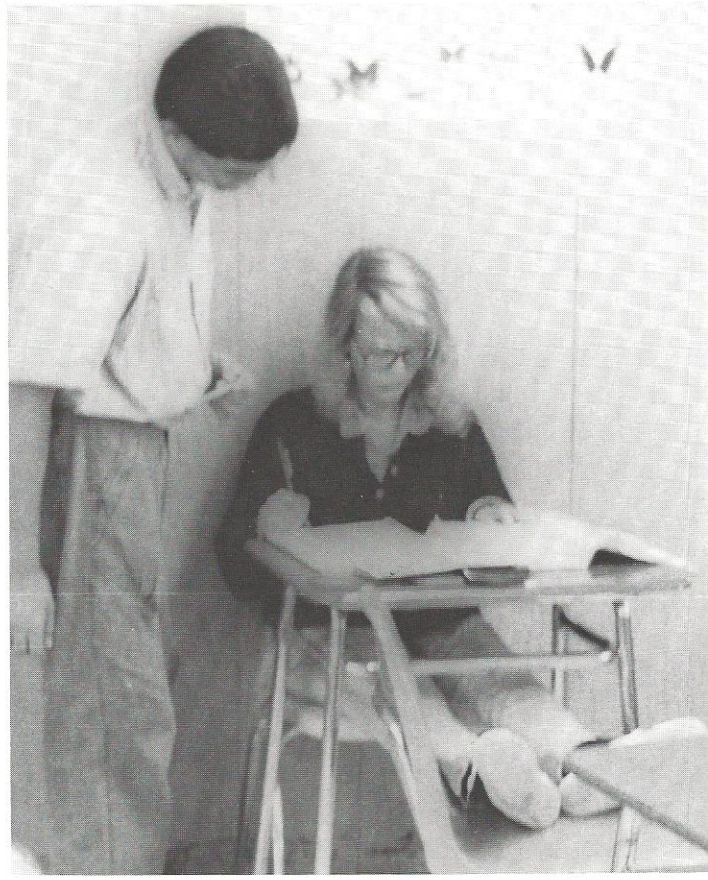

Heather Gahagan and Umesh Patel realize that chemistry is an important part of the SAT. In Mrs. Griffith's class they both work on chemical formulas.

Junior, Ted Persky, works a pre-calculus problem on the board. Square roots can be "the root of all evil" — especially without a calculator.

Duke Talent Search selects seventh grade students with high academic marks to take the SAT. Amy Carter, Jason Strickland, and Walter Fralix were chosen.

Mr. Goodrich works a math problem with Kim Strickland and Tara Ulmer — as an M.E. major from Clemson, Mr. Goodrich is well aware of the importance of the SAT's.

Test Taking A Challenge

SAT's, PSAT's

The time for accountability has come when Scholastic Aptitude Test and Preliminary SAT are taken by John C. sophomores, juniors and seniors. These tests reflect accumulated knowledge and predict college success. These tests are the pay-off for years of hard work.

Mr. Bennett and Mrs. Linder helped students during after school hours to prepare for the "Big Day". Juniors and Seniors who took the course learned the SAT consisted of two major parts.

The SAT is a necessary evil
for our students

Betty Goehring

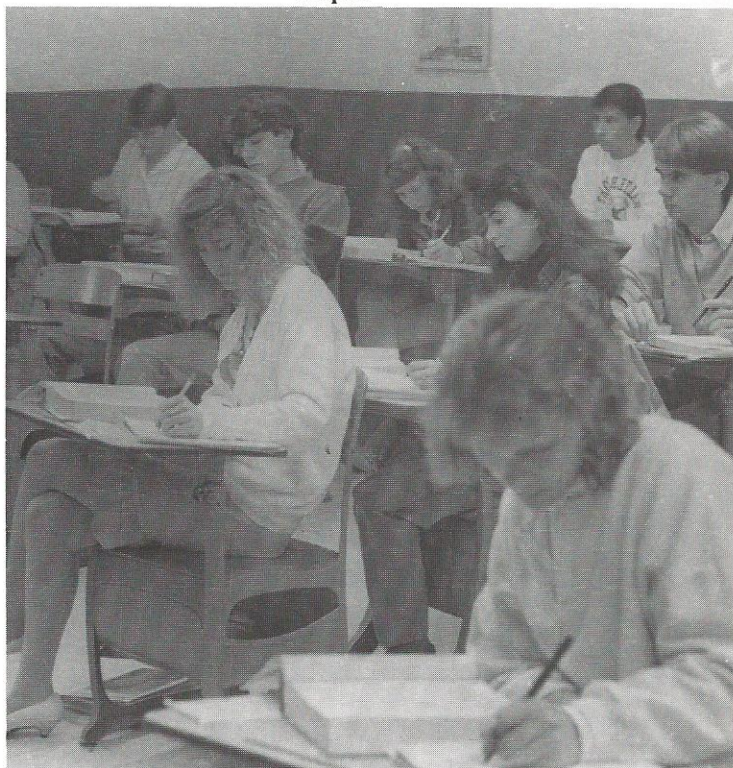

Verbal and Quantitative. The Verbal consisted of analogies, antonyms, sentence completion, and reading comprehension. The Quantitative section dealt with math, basically Geometry and Algebra II. One part of the SAT does not count toward total score, that is the Test for Standard Written English which compares each students' score on English skills to that of other students across the country.

A special thanks goes to these two dedicated educators who help us realize we are living in the "Age of Testing."

This year the Duke Talent Search chose three students; Amy Carter, Walter Fralix, and Jason Strickland. This program seeks gifted students that score in the top three percent in the nation on achievement tests. These students will take the SAT and test their ability to do math and their skill on vocabulary. The reason for this test is to show these young students their full potential.

According to senior, Amy Gentry, "If you haven't studied your vocabulary through the years — you're lost — yes, there's no hope."

Mr. Bennett and Mrs. Linder look over the SAT booklet to figure out what questions need to be asked at the after school session.

The seniors are taking a vocabulary test for Mrs. Linder. Vocabulary is a part of the SAT and is pushed hard in all of Mrs. Linder's classes.

An Exciting Place

THE LIBRARY

Our school library is a center of learning activities. The library is constantly busy with many activities being offered. Mrs. Brightwell, our school librarian, directs study from books, films, and lectures. She conducts contests and encourages independent work.

John C. faculty members meet in the library at least twice a month to discuss new ideas and school problems.

Cheerleaders, board members, the Student Council, Booster Club members,

It Attempts

To Serve

Everyone

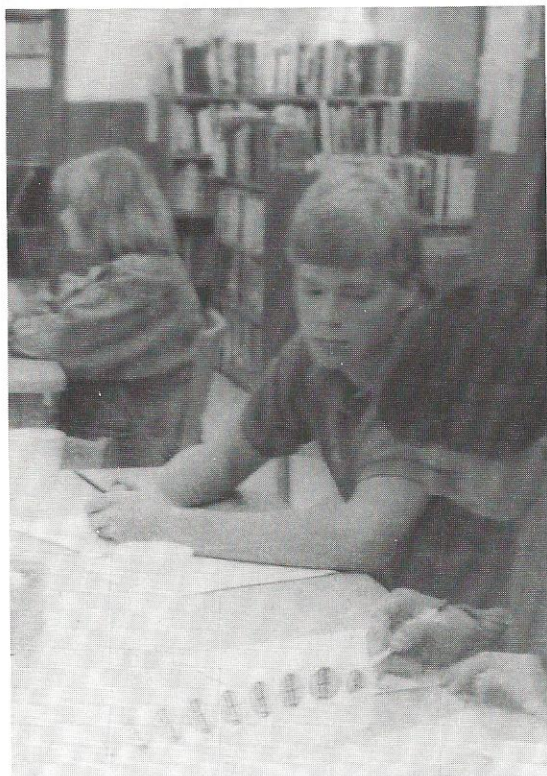

Gary Brightwell

P.T.O. committees, and other groups use the library for a meeting room.

The library is full of many people most of the school day. Students meet to talk about upcoming assignments, homework that is due, and to find out the new gossip. If it gets to noisy, Mrs. Brightwell is always there to quiet things down.

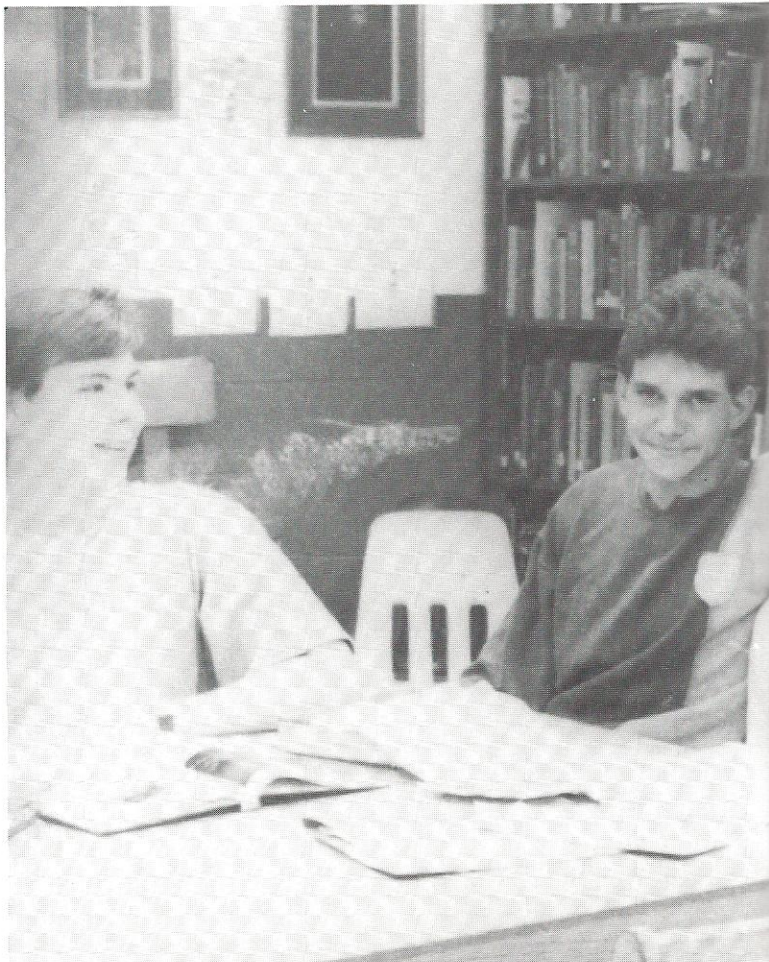

The lower school also is centered around the library. Here they come to choose what books they would like to read. Also, they watch many educational films.

Mrs. Brightwell does a good job making everyone feel welcome. She teaches students how to use the card catalog. She continues the Birthday Book of the Month Club where students donate a special book to the library with their name and birthdate listed in the book. Thanks to Mrs. Brightwell, John C. library is a well organized and enjoyable place.

Edward Oswald and Asher Howell are taking votes for mock election day.

These sophomores are taking a break from doing homework to talk about the gossip.

Michell Jones and Michell Woodard spend their free time helping Mrs. Brightwell in the library.

Mrs. Kitty Howell and Mrs. Gail Howell talk over new ideas at a teachers meeting.

Mrs. Brightwell slowly places the reel on the projector so she may show a film.

DEDICATED TO THE ONE WE LOVE

Warm, caring, patient, loyal, understanding — These words can be used to describe our friend. He is always there to lend a helping hand. His smile is contagious. Although he has been at the Academy for only five years, we feel that we have known him for a lifetime.

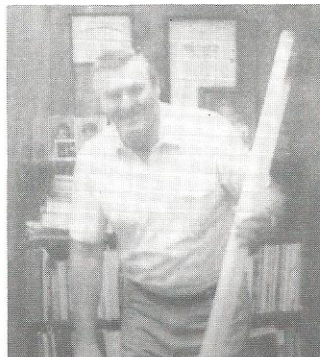

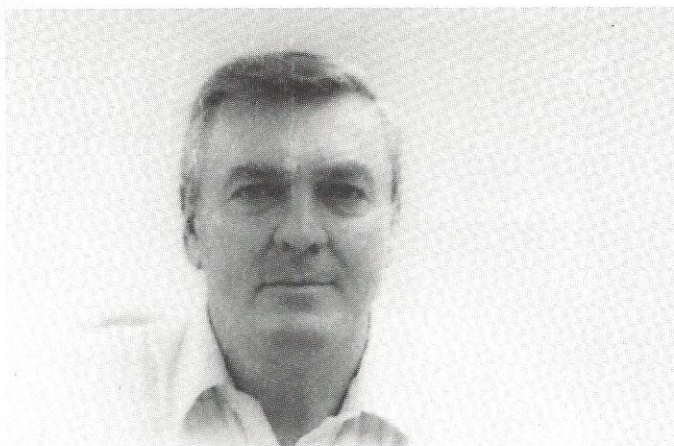

He helps the campus look spiffy and the canteen smelling spicy. If these jobs are not enough, he serves as the girl's softball coach and helps with J.V. football.

He shares his loyalty, caring, and pride with the students and faculty at J.C.C.A. It is with much love and appreciation that the yearbook staff proudly dedicates the 1989 TALON to our friend Mr. Jim Harmon.

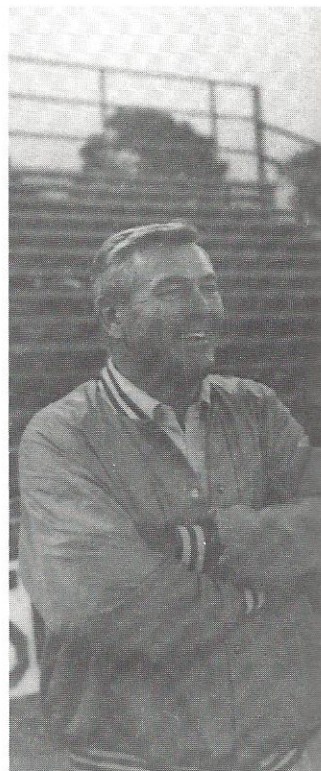

Mr. Harmon takes a break in the office to relax.

Mr. Harmon and Mrs. Beach are discussing the lunch schedule.

Always busy fixing things, Mr. Harmon goes to fix the lights.

Mr. Harmon seems to be enjoying some free time to himself.

On Thursday nights Mr. Harmon always helps the football team.

Student Aid.

You don't have to be an economics major to know that there are better things to spend your money on than checking account service charges.

Well, good news. This fall you can sign up for Bargain Checking instead.

You'll pay no service charges. There's no minimum balance required. And there's no limit on the number of checks you can write. Plus, every month we'll send you an itemized monthly statement.

In fact, the only thing you won't get is a bunch of cancelled checks. (But in case you ever need one, we'll keep them safe at the bank.)

It's that simple. You keep the service charges. We keep the checks.

So why not make your money go a little further? Get some free student aid from South Carolina National. Get Bargain Checking.

A TRIP DOWN MEMORY LANE

This page of the yearbook was devoted to the past decade, 1980-1989. Over that period of time many memorable events took place, the loss of many great men and women but the gain of many new ideas.

The trip down memory lane began in 1980. In March, Mount St. Helens erupted, then again in May. During that year there was an attempt to rescue the Iranian hostages; it failed. The helicopter crashed into a transport plane killing the crewmen. Ronald Reagan won the Presidency of the United States, beating President Jimmy Carter. The last month of that year brought the death of a great music legend. John Lennon of the Beatles was shot to death in New York City.

1981 began with the swearing in of the 40th President of the United States, Ronald Reagan. The same month the Iranian hostages were released after 444 days of captivity. In February, England announced the engagement of Prince Charles to Lady Diana Spencer.

President Reagan was shot in the chest by John Hinckley Jr. The President recovered nicely. In April the U.S. launched Columbia, the first reusable spacecraft. Later that year Prince Charles and Lady Diana were married. Sandra Day O'Connor was sworn in as the first woman on the Supreme Court.

The second year of the decade began with the death of Comedian John Belushi, 33. He died from a drug overdose. Prince Charles and Lady Di announced the birth of their first child, Harry. On that same day John Hinkley Jr. was found not guilty by reason of insanity for shooting the President. Ingrid Bergman and Princess Grace of Monaco died within a month of each other. Ms. Bergman died as a result of cancer and Princess Grace died from a car accident in France. Epcot Center opened in Buena Vista, Florida. On October 15th Halley's Comet was sighted for the first time since 1911. The Vietnam Memorial was dedicated November 13 in Washington D.C., The first artificial heart was planted in a 61 year old man. The first operation to take place in history.

Elizabeth Dole began her new year off right. She was the first woman to be on the cabinet. Barney B. Clark, the man who received the artificial heart, died. The first California Condor hatched in captivity emerged from its shell in San Diego. Sally K. Ride was the first woman in space. Her mission began June 15. In Beirut suicide terrorists killed 241 U.S. soldiers.

On February 7, 1984 Challenger astronauts, Bruce McCandless and Robert Stewart, were the first human beings to fly free in space without life line spacecraft. The winter Olympics began in Sarajevo, Yugoslavia. Walter Mondale, the Democrats choice for president, announced his running mate, Geraldine Ferraro, the first woman to run for Vice-President of the U.S. Vanessa Williams, Miss America, resigned because of pictures published in Penthouse Magazine. The summer Olympics began in California. In October Indira Gandhi was assassinated by two of her body guards. On November 6 President Reagan won the re-election by a landslide.

March 11, 1985 Mikhail Gorbachev became the New Soviet leader. The Discovery lifted off with an extra crew member, Senator Edwin Jacob. The Coca-Cola Company announced a change in the Coke formula to give it a new taste. They later announced that the original Coke would still be made. A TWA jetliner was hijacked. One passenger was killed the others were released. Screen star Rock Hudson, 59, died due to AIDS.

January 28, 1986 Challenger exploded 73 seconds after take-off. Seven crew members were killed including Krista McCullof, a school teacher. Jim and Tammy Bakker resigned from the PTL ministries after Mr. Bakker admitted to having sexual encounters with a church secretary. The U.S.S. Stark was hit by an Iraqi warplane killing 37 crew members. President Reagan and Gorbachev signed a treaty to eliminate medium-range missiles.

In 1988 the summer and winter Olympics took place. The '88 election was another item. George Bush won over Michael Dukakis.

Our record of the decade ends with the swearing in of George Bush, our 41st President, January 20, 1989.
