Gave Many Wonderful
Times For Everyone To*

The 1989 Junior-Senior Prom brought a "Touch of Class" to John C. Calhoun Academy and left many wonderful memories. Towers of black and white balloons, black and silver top hats and canes decorated the gym for a chic and sophisticated elegance. Juniors worked long hours and many days prior to the prom to achieve the overall effect. Instead of the traditional "drop-in," couples had their pictures taken in the gym before the dance. The Staxx band was chosen to play for the second year. The prom never ends until the Juniors have cleaned up. Each one returned to campus early the morning after the prom to help with the job. Thoughts of the beach and no school on Monday lure Juniors to get the job done! Special occasions like the annual Junior-Senior Prom highlight the final days for both Juniors and Seniors.

The four sophomore ushers included Rodney Murdaugh, Edward Oswald, Stacey Padgett, and Shane Walker. The ushers escort prom guests to their tables.

Cam Wernitz, Chris Rowe, Terry Jones, and Matt Free take time out from dancing to talk things over.

Byron Miller with his date, Kim Strickland, quickly searches for money to pay for prom pictures.
