

English

French

Life is a foreign language:
all men mispronounce it.
Christopher Morley

Literature is an investment of genius which pays dividends to all subsequent times.
John Burroughs

