

Laughter, and then the gym quiets to a roar. A few minutes are dedicated to clowning around. The bell rings to go home. With the supporting yells still ringing in their ears, the players anxiously await the night and the approaching ballgame.

