

High school, a fleeting moment in your life ... a friendship beginning at the end ... the end of boring assemblies to escape the boredom of classes ... checking out corridors between classes ...

