

BUS DRIVERS

A Day In The Life Of A Bus-Driver
Get up at 5 am. Stagger, half-asleep to the bus. Sit and warm up your bus while your knees are knocking because it's 20 degrees. Take off, but the bus chokes off. (You left the emergency brake up). You begin to pick up the children and the paper begins. Kids throw paper at each other, the floor, and the bus-driver. Slam on brakes and try to get the children to sit down. Stop the bus and pull apart the two girls fighting. (They manage to punch the bus-driver a few times). You wonder if you'll make it to school alive. Finally dear old RHS is in sight. You take two Excedrin while the children are pushing and shoving to get off. And teachers think they have discipline problems.
