

THE VOLLEYBALL GAME

Our volleyball game wasn't just an ordinary game. The faculty and students were players. After all, it's not everyday when you get to get out of class to watch a volleyball game. Kids were even betting on who would win. Everyone was having a good time, shouting when their peers would get a point. Some students even said it was hilarious to see the teachers jumping left and right to go after the ball. At the end, the faculty won, but the students said it was a good game anyway. Maybe even too good because it was so close! Everyone thought the game was a great idea.
