

Black History Program

The Black History Program was really good, or as some students said, "cool". The program consisted of a wonderful prayer by Terrell Lewis, a reading by Amanda Jenkins, songs by the RMS chorus, a skit by Sisters In Action, some songs by the After School Kids and a motivational speech by Mrs. Anna Varnadoe.

The RMS chorus sang a beautiful version of "What a Wonderful World" with a trumpet accompaniment. The After School Kids sang two African songs that had everyone's feet going. The Sisters in Action performed the skit "Never Look Down on a Sister Unless You Are Helping Her Up". The skit illustrated the idea that you should not talk about someone behind their back, then pretend to be their friend.

The president of Sisters in Action, Courtney Bell, introduced Mrs. Varnadoe. Mrs. Varnadoe inspired everyone with stories about the contributions made by African-Americans to American culture and history and to believe in your self and to be SOMEBODY!

The Black History Program was a huge success.
