The cry of "FORE," the upraised club, the swish as it comes down, and CRACK—another Southwest turf topper slams the little white ball down the fairway.

Although there was no Public High School League this year, the Southwest golf team, headed by captain Doug Skinner, closed the 1956 season with eight won and four lost, an excellent record. They also placed eighth in a field of twenty schools in the tournament. Since there was no league, most of the matches were against county schools.

Golf is a fine sport. Let's do our bit toward returning it to Public High League competition. The coming season's turnout of boys is heartening. Although only two of last year's players are returning, the enthusiasm of these fellows offsets their inexperience.
