Ready, aim, fire!! Another Southwesterner hit the "bullseye." This target shooting bunch meets on Friday at the Armory to try to improve their shooting techniques. Each "order" of fire consists of twenty-five, directed at paper targets. The four positions are, prone, sit, kneel, and stand. Five shots are fired toward each of the targets within a period not to exceed five minutes. The targets are scored on a basis of fifty points, ten per shot. The team is formed from the best shots in the club, six being maximum for league competition. The highest four then receive marksmanship letters.

Between shots this club took time out to elect its officers: Jack Brenner, President; and Michael McRae, Secretary and Treasurer. This happy group has proudly announced that it was the winner of second place in the league.
