

The Southwest Band has long been a source of pride to Southwest High School. As we turn back to the 1938 Round-up, we discover that the band was among those first music organizations at Southwest.

This first band consisted of twenty-four musicians, who met daily the seventh period in room 413 under the direction of Maestro Monachesi. Today, twenty years later, its enrollment is over three times its original number. This energetic group now meets every morning during the "A" period in the band room, still under the direction of Mr. Monachesi.

A look at their activity calendar shows that many football games, parades, and pep and aud sessions would have been incomplete without our fine band. In addition to their many performances they have also been busy with their social activities this year. These included a mid-winter swimming party at the Y and a Christmas party, given in conjunction with the Orchestra.
