

The Varsity Football team flanks Miss Southwest, her maids, and their escorts. Left to right, Jay Baldwin, Bette Tapella, Rich Witte, Susie Jones, George Galakatos, Joanne Eggeman, Marguerite Scarato (Miss SW), Salle Eschrich, Tom Stenger, Judy Thatcher, John Meyer, Carol Crutcher, George Lee, Effie Dubis, and John Mattingly.

Miss Southwest Presentation

Miss Southwest of 1957
Miss Marguerite Scarato

The traditional Miss Southwest Presentation and Dance was held in the auditorium on October 18. First, Student Council President, Al Antoine presented each of the seven maids. Bette Tapella, Susie Jones, Joanne Eggeman, Salle Eschrich, Judy Thatcher, Carol Crutcher, and Effie Dubis entered the Court of Love and Beauty carrying bouquets of white chrysanthemums. Then, amid the strains of "A Pretty Girl is Like a Melody", the queen, Miss Marguerite Scarato entered. Wearing the traditional white gown and carrying a large spray of yellow mums, she ascended to her throne. She was there crowned Miss Southwest and presented with a silver bracelet inscribed Miss Southwest, 1957. Dancing in the gym to the music of Carl Rossow topped off the festivities for the Queen and her Court.