

Opening Day Produces A Variety Of Reactions

A mass of faces, clothed in smiles, anxious frowns, and eyes wide with expectancy converged to form ordered classes. With school beginning in mid-August, light clothes, sandals, and popsicles molded the pattern of the opening days. As autumn brought a chill to the air, football playoffs, magazine sales, and the fair were welded into the framework of the regular classroom routine.

