

Studying American Heritage Enriches 1st, 2nd, And 3rd Graders' Perspective

Preparing Indian meals, studying the history of our country, and observing seed development were among the various activities that involved the first, second, and third graders.

Science projects were accented in the second grade, while the compilation of S.C. history booklets kept the interest of third graders. Those students in the first grade brought books from home in order to form their own class library.

MRS. KATHY BLACK: 3rd.

MRS. JAN LATHROP: 3rd.

MRS. BETTY BRANDENBURG: 3rd.

MRS. SARA SMITH: 3rd.

MRS. BETTY COPE: 2nd.

MRS. HARRIET HARE: 2nd.

