

INVOLVEMENT

The various clubs and organizations at school helped to put finishing touches on the fabric of student life. From newspaper reporting and directing traffic to cheerleading, the members of the student body were offered multiple opportunities for involvement. No longer allowed to blend into the background, students were encouraged to become a part of the total picture by learning to express their individuality.

