

Learning

Dedicated teachers encouraged students to strive to produce a successful outcome in each of their academic undertakings. Various subjects were offered enabling students to recognize the field of study which they would like to pursue in later life. The execution of writing papers, planning projects, and researching topics helped students shape their course in life.

