

Seniors Have Added Responsibilities

Being the oldest class of the school, the senior class faced the responsibility of raising money for its class trip. Throughout the year seniors sponsored various fund-raising drives and activities. In the early part of the year, the class shared with other classes the profit from the school magazine sale. The senior class play and Queen of Hearts also added to the seniors' funds. Having worked so diligently and successfully, the seniors were able to take their trip to Washington.
