

Beth Johnson Is Tapped For Tommy Wannamaker Award

Scholarship, character, dependability, leadership, citizenship, and service to school were the criteria for the selection of Beth Johnson as the recipient of the Academy's highest student award — the Tommy Wannamaker Award.

A student at Wade Hampton for twelve years, Beth has held various offices in her class and homeroom. During her freshman year she served on Senior Student Council. She has been on the staffs of the Pierian, the Rebel Yell, and the Rebel. Her senior year she was editor of the yearbook, the Rebel.

Consistently named to the honor roll, Beth has a cumulative A average. As a result of her score on the PSAT/NMSQT, she was selected a National Merit finalist. Her honors include being designated a Presbyterian College Junior Fellow, a Wofford Scholar, and a Furman Scholar. Beth received the WOW history award, was the recipient of the Junior Service League Distinguished Youth Award and the Optimist Club Outstanding Youth Award. She was a delegate to Girls' State and was selected to receive the DAR Good Citizen award from her school. Beth was named an Elk Student-of-the-Month this year. By her classmates and faculty, she was voted Miss Rebel for 1979.

In addition to her school activities, Beth is active in her church. She also finds time to serve as a Candy Striper at the Orangeburg Regional Hospital.

Beth plans to attend the University of Georgia in the fall of 1979.
