

"Be True to Your School"

Logan: This year has been some kind of year hasn't it. I just wish you and I had at least one class together besides homeroom! Have a great summer and and you and I will have to get together some time.

"So be true to your school now, like you would to your girl or guy. Be true to your school now, and let your colors fly." School spirit gave tempo and expression to the '79-80 year. Loud and resounding in times of victory and in times of hoping to be number one. Soft, however strong and continuing, in times of defeat. Students united to pull for their team, their school. Spirit buttons and school colors were worn to show support for the Rebels. Excitement generated throughout each season with the hope that their team would be on top, the best.
