

Students working together with fellow students and with their advisors brought harmony into the year. Because cooperation was necessary in accomplishing goals within each club, individual members had to contribute their part in making projects successful. The songs of these students were stronger and more vibrant from the experience gained from working with others, creating harmony.

