

world by alleviating suffering. Behold! Edward Ackerman, a world-famous baby doctor.

The doctor needs the nurse's help. It is written that Elizabeth Boynton has given her life to waiting on the sick.

It is written as I unroll further that bill-boards, sign-posts and newspapers are filled with advertising matter about the world's most famous (guitarist). Hear him in concert—behold! Cecil Durham.

The guitarist needs an accompanist, Frances Fishburne your wonderful high school musician, plays the accompaniments for Cecil Durham. Not only does she play for Cecil, but plays for big theatres.

Margaret Easterlin is a great nerve doctor. She is doing one of the greatest works known.

I see that it is written in 1950 that one of your classmates is to be the national commissioner of Boy Scouts of America, see Pete Crosby as he works with this, the greatest organization for boys.

As I read further it is written that in the Hull House of Chicago a new worker is found. Edith Linder is noted for her kindness to the poor in the slums. She is truly a second Jane Adams.

The new Editor of the News and Courier has been appointed for South Carolina's greatest daily newspaper. See Isadore Bogoslow, January 1, 1944.

The business world has called several of your classmates—Willie Mae Hudson and Helene Rivers are stenographers, secretaries and bookkeepers.

Since man cannot live without eating we find Jessie Blocker a tea room manager.

It is further written that one of your classmates could not avoid Cupid's arrow. Eudelle Bowen is a bride.

The girls of your class seem to be taking part in business readily. For Miss Edith Carter has just been elected senator for South Carolina; Miss Eliza Sloman is congresswoman for her district.

Unrolling further I read that Miss Pernelle Hiott is Demonstration agent for Colleton county. She is doing a very successful work.

Can this be real? Your classmate, Pearl Cohen, is a teacher of psychology in Columbia University.

Business does not seem to hold all of the young ladies, though, for Leona Mixon is cooking three meals a day for a very delighted husband; he is very proud of her, for her ability in cooking is known to everyone.

It is written further that Haskell Padgett is a great scientist.

Dorothy Stroman has not forgotten the worth of a smile. She is the owner of one of the widest known hospitals in Russia. The peace treaty of war has just been signed and there are those who have to be ministered unto. Her encouraging smile has saved many.

A heart of gold;
A treasure smile;
Belongs to the woman
With a purpose worthwhile.

Robert Breeland is the owner of a large chewing gum factory. Miss Gladys Tuten is the stenographer.

Helen Jacobs is a great composer of music. Her latest piece is "Winged Horses." Italy has proclaimed her the greatest of musicians.

A happy home is that of Uldean Kinsey's. She knows what real happiness is. Her two children are the pride, light and life of her.
