“WILDCAT’S” FOOTBALL SEASON OF 1939-40

Although the Wildcats were severely handicapped for three games by losing the services of John L. Hayden, their ace back, and their Captain, Paul Padgett, they had a fairly successful season.

In the line the defensive play of Berrien Sanders was very outstanding from time to time, and such stalwart tackles as Buddy Warren and Herbert Hayden were often seen smashing the enemy back to earth for heavy losses. Captain Paul Padgett, Co-Captain Harry Lee Cummings, Harding Fiske, Turner Maxcey were “hard rocks” in the middle of the line. On the other end Harold Rhoden snagged innumerable passes for gains of several yards. John L. Hayden’s running formed the spearhead of the Wildcat attack, and the defensive play by Edward Carter staved off potential touchdowns again and again. The strong arm of Jack Lindsay was severely felt by opposing teams repeatedly.
