

Leadership, Service, Scholarship, and Character

No honor or responsibility conferred by the school excels that represented by the National Honor Society.

The National Honor Society looks upon education as a total product measured by the four qualifications of scholarship, leadership, service, and character.

To bear forward the searching light of truth, to lead that others may follow in the light, to keep burning in our school a high ambition for the enduring values of life, and to serve — these are the purposes of the National Honor Society.
