

Mr. Jarvis and Karen Williams look over job opportunities posted on the bulletin board.

FFA sponsor, Mr. Haltiwanger, prepares for the next FFA meeting.

The FFA, FHA, D.E., and T&I Clubs all emphasized future vocational interests. They provided information on farming, homemaking, and job opportunities in retail trade and industrial work.

FHA participated in the district meeting held at the Area Vocational School in October, and traveled to Columbia to the State Convention in May.

The D.E. Club hosted regional competition in February. Schools throughout the low country sent representatives to compete in the many different categories. Winners went on to further competition on the state level.

FFA and T&I supplement classroom instruction in agriculture, forestry, drafting, and shop. In club meetings, students went beyond classroom experiences in exploring vocations in these fields.

(Above) FHA members experiment with a sewing machine. (Far left) D.E. participant presents a commercial demonstration. (Left) Another participant in D.E. goes over his speech.

