

WALTERBORO ENTERS COMPUTER WORLD

Walterboro High and Colleton High's walls are bulging this year. The graduating class is the largest WHS has ever seen with a grand total of 353. The junior class, however, topped this with 447 students. Sophomore and freshman classes have reached highs this year with 401 sophomores and 496 freshmen. The total of 1697 students placed us among the twenty-one largest schools in the state.

With this many students, traffic around the high schools was dense and more hectic than ever. New women traffic directors have been added to the city police force to free the patrolmen for other jobs.

After the painting of school lockers, bathrooms, and hall walls, destruction and defacement became a problem. Evidently, the clean surfaces proved too much of a temptation for the artistic and literary efforts of our graffiti fans. Improvements have been made but we haven't yet gained the pride in our school's appearance.

Walterboro High has put a foothold into the modern world with the use of computer scheduling.

New windows installed last spring brighten the facade of our school.
