

Sleeping on the job? Tim O'Quinn pauses for a few minutes rest as he gives blood.

Even Mr. Jones has to prove he is eligible to give blood as he pulls out a necessary card to give to Minnilynn Byrd.

Nurses and local volunteers arrived early November 3 to set up the gym for blood donors. Students over eighteen (seventeen with their parents' written permission) and with suitable medical histories were allowed to donate pints of blood to the Red Cross. Several teachers also participated in donating blood. All together the students and faculty contributed many much-needed pints of blood.

"I'm wounded" remarks Brian Gatch as he and Joy Nettles patiently wait while giving their pint of blood.
