SENIORS' CONTEMPLATION

Harold Whatley
Kay Whetzel

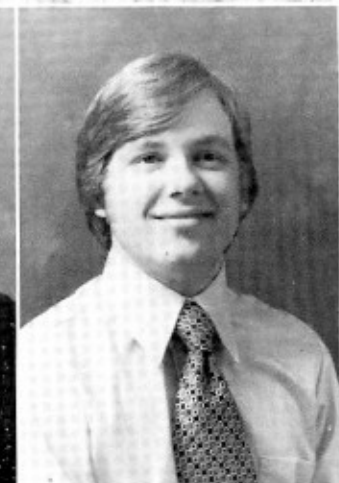

As Seniors there was much that we needed to impress upon the underclassman. Being a senior was much more than just completing four years of high school; it carried with it responsibilities of leading the student body and setting examples which underclassman should have proudly followed.

High School, as a testing ground, prepared the mind and body. Our personalities, outlooks, and habits were molded and reshaped again so that we might be the best individual possible.

Now, that we have received the best training possible we face the realities of the world. We learned in high school to meet each challenge calmly and with a determination that will enable us to overcome any obstacle. With this conclusion we say good-bye to "Good ol' W.H.S." reluctantly.
