Teachers really know what to celebrate. They celebrate everything from babies to Senior cut day. This year we have had three teachers to become parents. Mr. Haltiwanger's wife had a baby. Ms. Johnson and Ms. Bridwell both had babies, also we've had a marriage. Coach Simmons and Miss Nimmons were married on December 21.

Talking about coaches; our new head coach is fantastic! Coach Rice has come up with a super team of Bulldogs. Mr. Atmore, another new member of our faculty and his band participated in one of the well-known New York Christmas parades. Keeping with music Mr. Young has done a great job improving our band.

Faculty also celebrates Ms. Pearce. She keeps the state attendance register and they really come up with a super celebration on pay day.

Holidays are favorites. Their favorite is Christmas 'cause it's the longest and that's when Santa comes. They also find Thanksgiving and Easter interesting. They even think weekends are relaxing. One teacher was heard saying T. G. I. F. (thank God it's friday). The favorite time of the whole year is the end.

And senior cut day, that's the happiest day of a teacher's life. Can you imagine—a day without students?
