

Most Likely To Succeed

Elizabeth Belcher, Dan Bodison, and Monique Tracy were elected "Most Likely to Succeed". The students felt that these people would do something good with their lives after completing high school. It was an honor to be chosen.

Elizabeth plans to attend Furman University and major in music education. After college she may teach voice privately or music in the school system. There is a possibility that she may further her music education after college and study for her master's degree.

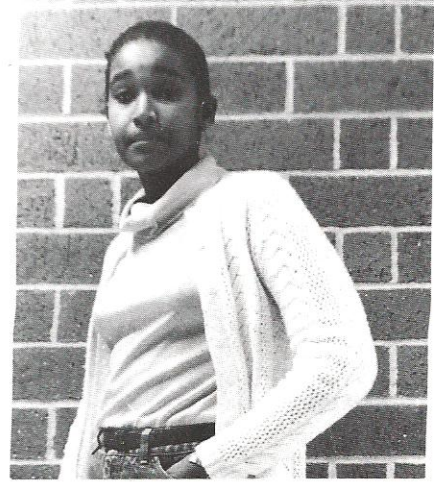

Dan plans to pursue a career in medicine. He said, "I am firm in my resolution to succeed in this career. Helping others
