

Finest Season Ever

This was a year of discontent in the National Football League. Coach Doug Bullcock, head football coach of the J.V. stated, "I can assure you that we won't be on strike. Our boys want to play football." That's just what they did. The Bullpups had the finest season ever in the history of the Walterboro Junior Varsity program.

One of the teams strong points this year was its returning sophomores. Almost one half of this years team was made up of experienced 10th graders. When asked how he felt about the prospects for next year's season,

Coach Rusty Adams, offensive coordinator for the Bullpups said, "First we're hoping for alot of kids to come out next year and secondly, if we can get the kind of commitment we had this year we should be back on the winning track."

Benji McCoy, quarterback for the Bullpups commented, "We had a great season this year. The B-Team is sending up alot of good players making up for many of the sophomores who are moving on to varsity." Next year looks pretty good.

Trying to strip the ball, Kenneth Fryer and Thomas Washington go for it.
