Knickers, duck shoes, mini skirts, leg warmers and Band of Blue jackets were all part of the 83 fashion scene. Knickers were seen winter through spring, and duck shoes were said to be the most comfortable shoes that students had ever worn.

Thomas White said "The only requirements for mini-skirts are a nice set of healthy looking legs, skinny legs just won't do!" And while some were showing off their legs others were covering them up. Stephanie Drayton said, "I think leg warmers go great with a nice pair of designer jeans."

Of course Band of Blue jackets were a popular sight. Deborah McDonald said "My Band of Blue jacket tells everyone that I am a part of the best band in the state of South Carolina."

Dressed in her mini shirt, is Laura Bell.

Black pumps, leg warmers, and shorter skirts were a big part of the W.H.S. fashion scene.

Showing her style wearing knickers and flats is Lynn Boles.
