Making It

It was senior privileges and ordering senior supplies. It was a class ring with 84 stamped on it. It was applying to colleges and waiting for your acceptance. It was also a great year to do all the crazy things you never got to do before.

Your last year in high school meant the senior trip, your last Jr.-Sr. Prom and graduation. For athletes it meant their last game and homecoming being the big night to march with your favorite guy or girl. Your senior year was the year you tried to make your mark in school. Some students did this by working extra hard on their studies while others relaxed and promised to study diligently when they went off to college. Seniors proved that they belonged at the top of their class. They finally made it.

Having the pleasure of walking Rolfe Martin down the field before the Homecoming game, Christa Gilgen gives a little kiss for good luck.
