

Everybody Needs a Little Time Away

The need to relax, divert our attentions and get away from sometimes humdrum activities of the classroom was real and prevalent. People varied as did interests. It seemed there was a club to suit just about everybody. There were even two clubs for the jocks and jockettes. There were clubs that related to professions, the arts, science, sports, hobbies, and even language.

Clubs served many purposes for both the students and the faculty. They gave the students a chance to learn how to work together, to elect officers and to complete projects. Clubs also gave many faculty members a chance to share with the students their personal experiences in a non-classroom atmosphere. Clubs had our definite Stamp Of Approval.

Mannequins are an important part of salesmanship.
Kim Hunter arranges the clothing on a mannequin in the student store.

