

Shooting in the Low 70's

And Even When It's Hotter

The golf team was a group of young golfers who gained experience with every match. Coach Carter said, "The team played the best that they were capable of playing."

Three members shot their lowest scores of the season at the conference match; Scott Bridge—80, Andy Harrison—88 and Wendy Bashnan—102. Bridge was the low medalist of the season with an 80. Jeff Hale held the lowest average for the season.

"Scott is talented and has the mechanics to be a great golfer. He is exposed to more golf because he plays with his father frequently which is a plus for his game. When he becomes stronger, he'll find the game easier. Andy could become a good golfer because he finds the hard parts of golf to be easy. Wendy is a tremendous competitor. She has the talent to shoot in the 80's if she practices," said Coach Carter.

The other two players had shot their lowest scores earlier in the season; Jeff Hale—82 and Lee Murdaugh—105. "Jeff is a totally dedicated golfer. Even though he doesn't have the opportunity to play regularly, he has the talent and is very serious about his game." said Coach Carter, "Lee played terrific considering he had never played golf before this season. With dedication he could be a good golfer."

Jeff Hale works on his game.

Wendy Bashnan, the only lady golfer.

Lee Murdaugh follows through on his stroke.

G
O
L
F

Lee Murdaugh, Wendy Bashnan, Scott Bridge, Jeff Hale, Andy Harrison and Coach Steve Carter.

Scott Bridge shows us that there are more ways than one to putt.

